Active Duty Ordered For 24,500 Reserves

U.S. Dislikes Warsaw as Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an official Hanoi proposal that peace talks preliminaries be held in Warsaw, Poland, a White House spokesman said today this government is pressing for "an appropriate site in neutral territory."

Presidential press secretary George Christian told reporters that the selection of a neutral site "should be achieved promptly through mutual agreement" with no effort on either side to make the site selection a propaganda matter.

This apparently represented a rejection, for the present at least, of a Hanoi proposal, first disclosed through the Russian news agency Tass.

Christian said the Tass report was "later confirmed by a message received through our embassy at Vientiane, Laos."

"Fair to Both Sides"

"The United States government has proposed a number of neutral countries as possible sites for contacts, and we have not yet had any response to this proposal," Christian said, reading carefully from a prepared script.

"On serious matters of this kind, it is important to conduct talks in a neutral atmosphere fair to both sides."

"The selection of an appropriate site in neutral territory with adequate communication facilities should be achieved promptly through mutual agreement, and those acting in good faith will not seek to make this a matter of propaganda."

When asked to whom the statement should be attributed, Christian said to himself.

The Warsaw report came in a dispatch from Hanoi by Tass.

The most serious objection seen by some diplomats was that Warsaw, being the capital of an Eastern European Communist country, might present some difficulties for the South Vietnamese government which presumably would have observers or advisers with the delegation of U.S. officials to be headed by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

The United States had originally suggested Geneva, a site of which North Vietnam did not approve.

A North Vietnam proposal of Phnom Penh, Cambodia, U.S. officials said, was difficult for the United States because this country has no embassy there and because communication facilities are extremely limited.

Tass said: "It is believed in Hanoi's authoritative circles that the U.S. refusal to accept Phnom Penh as the meeting place may be taken to indicate that the United States delays solution of this question."

The Soviet news agency said North Vietnam had received a reply from the United States to its suggestion of Phnom Penh and this had "voiced disagreement."

10,000 Will Be Sent to S. Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford today announced he is calling to active duty about 24,500 Army, Navy and Air Force reservists. About 10,000 will go to South Vietnam.

In his first full-dress news conference, the new defense secretary said that no decision has been made at this time whether to call any additional reservists.

He also said that President Johnson intends at this time to limit U.S. forces in Vietnam to 549,500—representing an increase of 24,500 over the present ceiling.

Presidential Decision

Clifford linked this presidential decision to limit further U.S. deployment to another major decision "to turn over the major effort gradually to the South Vietnamese."

The new secretary, in office only six weeks, said the decision to move toward turning over the biggest part of the war effort to Vietnam has been made after months of consultations with the Vietnamese and took into account the Saigon government's decision to boost its forces by 135,000 men.

The reserve call-up was foreshadowed by Johnson's speech March 31 in which he also announced a partial halt in the

O'Brien Resigns From Cabinet, LBJ Replaces Him With Texan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson moved quickly to replace Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, first Cabinet casualty of his "lame duck" administration, while making official the expected

He said that when the postmaster general spoke to him earlier in the day about resigning, he told O'Brien "that since I was not going to be a candidate for re-election, I realize the Cabinet had made many sacrifices... and that now was the time for any of them to make decisions concerning their families and their future."

Johnson praised O'Brien, who served as his liaison with Capitol Hill and as a key political strategist, saying he was highly competent, efficient and effective. "We shall miss him, but are happy to cooperate with him in his desire to enter private life," Johnson said.

The President wouldn't discuss O'Brien's future plans but aides of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said the postmaster general would soon join the New Yorker's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In a statement today, O'Brien endorsed Kennedy but did not say whether he would take an active part in his campaign. An aide said this would depend on how much time O'Brien has in his new job.

O'Brien issued a statement saying he was pleased with the choice of Watson, a native of Oakhurst, Tex.

Watson appointment of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams as U.S. commander in Vietnam.

The President told White House newsmen Wednesday he had accepted O'Brien's resignation and had nominated W. Marvin Watson, now presidential appointments secretary, to fill the Cabinet post.

In addition to naming Abrams, 53 to take over for Gen. William C. Westmoreland when he becomes Army chief of staff in July, Johnson picked Adm. John S. McCain, 57, now commander of U.S. naval forces in Europe, to succeed retiring Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp as commander in chief, Pacific.

The military reshuffle also involved Johnson's naming of Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, now commandant of the National War College in Washington and staff secretary to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, to succeed Abrams as deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam.

"Many Sacrifices"

Johnson, who has said he won't seek or accept nomination for another term, took note of his "lame duck" status in announcing O'Brien's resignation.

Kansas City Rioting Kills 5

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A dazed Kansas City struggled to resume normal life today after a second straight night of racial violence in the Negro East side that left five dead, at least 20 wounded and rubble from more than 75 incendiary fires.

A curfew hastily proclaimed at 9 p.m. Wednesday was lifted at 6 a.m., and most people appeared to be reporting for work as usual. Business places reopened, and buses carrying armed National Guard troops resumed running.

Police, meanwhile, found themselves under a different sort of fire—demands by some Negro leaders that Chief Clarence M. Kelley resign for authorizing what Negroes termed excessive use of tear gas and police brutality.

James A. Hazlett, school superintendent, also was urged to step down for not taking an active enough role in quieting school disturbances.

"Keep the Peace"

"The function of the police department is to keep the peace," replied Chief Kelley. "When we have lawlessness, we must use force to control it, and tear gas is a humane method."

All of the dead were Negroes. They were shot to death, some victims of the intense crossfire that flared at times between Negro snipers and police supported by National Guardsmen.

Two guardsmen suffered gunshot wounds, neither serious. A fireman was wounded in the abdomen and underwent surgery. There were more than 60 arrests.

Most of the fires were out by dawn. Some were allowed to burn because of sniper fire. Firemen were pinned down at three locations during the night. Two of the fires raged out of control and burned themselves out. Police and guardsmen were ordered to shoot fire bombers dead.

Violence Resumes

The violence resumed around midnight Wednesday after a day of uneasy calm. During the peak of violence police sealed off an area from 27th to 34th streets between Prospect and Benton, about 24 square blocks.

Snipers challenged police and guardsmen from rooftops and cars, shooting and running or driving from vantage point to vantage point. The snipers were countered with tear gas and by strike forces of police rifle squads and supporting guardsmen. Other police officers served as rooftop spotters for their riflemen below.

At one point in the heat of the battle National Guardsmen requested and received more ammunition. An additional guard force patrolled a perimeter of 24 blocks by 16 blocks around the devastated section. State highway patrolmen supplemented

Civil Rights Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional passage of landmark open-housing legislation has won applause from civil rights leaders along with renewed demands for massive federal attacks on shabby housing and unemployment in riot-prone slums.

A 250-171 House vote Wednesday sent to the White House a civil rights bill to outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of 80 per cent of the nation's housing by 1970.

President Johnson said he would sign it into law as soon as possible.

Funeral Violence

The House action followed by a day the funeral of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, whose numerous campaigns often focused on open housing.

It also came after a week of widespread racial violence following King's assassination in Vietnam when the military vehicle in which he was riding struck a mine, the Pentagon has disclosed.

"I think this bill is symbolic," explained Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La. "Either we move ahead as one people or we move toward a police state."

Johnson hailed passage of the bill but also urged Congress to enact the rest of his program, including housing and job programs.

Joining in praise for the open-housing measure and in the call for more congressional action on job and housing programs were George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, Dore Schary, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development and a Negro, said Johnson's pending housing bill provides the way to build six million low and moderate-income homes in 10 years. The riot commission wants this accomplished in five years.

Called a 'Hoax'

But Roy Innis, associate national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, called the open-housing bill a "hoax against black people." What is needed more for the Negro community is a program for building and ownership of good housing in slum areas, he said.

He said the bill contains no enforcement procedure except conciliation while forbidding

The Civil Rights Bill Becomes Law

The civil rights bill with its far-reaching provisions against discrimination in the sale and rental of housing, has been passed by the Congress and goes to President Johnson today.

One of the reasons is the national political reaction following the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King. It is another example of the lesson which extremists will never learn, that violence more often than not brings public reaction of exactly the opposite form the extremists have intended.

But quite aside from the new emotional push the civil rights bill has received, the nation once and for all must face up to the difficult question of attempting to legislate in the field of sale and rental of housing. In this regard, it should be noted that the bill allows local and state regulations to take precedence if they exist or if local or state governments take the initiative.

It is important to examine, first of all, exactly what is in the civil rights bill in contrast to the smoke screens which have been raised against it.

Before the addition of the housing section in the Senate, the bill centered on provisions for federal guarantees for persons exercising constitutional rights, such as voting, serving on a jury, attending public school, joining a labor union, or seeking service from a business open to the public. The United States attorney general would be authorized to act only if the states did not in such cases. There can be no quarrel with this section of the law.

The law also forbids persons to travel across state lines or to use interstate facilities for the purpose of inciting a riot. It forbids instruction in the use of or making of firearms and explosives in civil disorders and makes it a federal crime to interfere with police and firemen doing their duties in time of civil disorders.

The law also makes clear that there should be no conflict over the constitutional rights of Indians who are still under reservation status.

The housing section, over a schedule of two and one-half years, forbids discrimination by reason of race, religion, or national origin in the sale or rental of an eventual estimated 80 per cent of the nation's housing and forbids the "block-busting" sales device which seeks to induce panic selling at below market prices.

At the start, the bill will cover federally assisted housing. On Dec. 31, 1968, coverage will include multi-unit housing. On Dec. 31, 1969, coverage will include single family units sold by sales representatives. Rooming houses in which the owner lives or single-family units sold by the owner-occupant are not covered.

A major criticism of the law is that enforcement rests with the Department of Housing and Urban Development in distant Washington and that the bill represents another instance of federal bureaucrats shouldering in on local affairs. We agree. But two observations must be made in this regard.

The housing section of the bill can represent another instance of the federal government acting because state and local government did not act. And more importantly, the bill specifies that state or local remedies must be sought, where they are available, before the federal government can act.

If communities in this area are really serious about moving on from the study stage in the field of fair housing ordinances, the time is now. It would be a far better answer than passing the buck to government for imposing its will on local government.

Hazards of Bonding Referenda

Serious consideration is apparently being given resolutions submitted to the Appleton City Council on holding referendums for future bond issues. And at this point it might be well for the city's legislative body to pause and take a hard look before it leaps.

There can be no argument against economy and it should be the obligation of all city departments, boards, agencies and commissions to exercise same whenever possible — and that goes double for new buildings.

But if there is concern over the possibility of having to float future bond issues for schools or other municipal improvements, the final responsibility is on the shoulders of the Common Council to be economy-minded and reject any project if it should be out of line.

Appleton's 20 aldermen are elected by wards and represent all the people. They should be making the decisions for the body politic. It is conceivable the burden of decision-making may be unnecessarily shifted to the polls every time a major project appears necessary.

Residents of the community and their elected officials should keep in mind that some projects get caught in time binds and extended controversy over referendum questions could result in stalemates, community division and a regressive approach to meeting Appleton's needs.

What Did Justice Reardon Expect?

When the American Bar Association House of Delegates adopted the so-called Reardon Report in February, it did so for what it said was its determination to protect the rights of defendants in criminal cases to a fair trial.

The ABA did not proffer any conclusive proof for its claims that pre-trial publicity in criminal cases had denied any number of defendants a fair trial. But its assumption that this was so led to the approval of the Reardon Report. The report sets up so-called guidelines for police, attorneys and even the courts as to what information they should let the public have through the press about crimes and those charged with crimes.

Now comes Justice Paul Reardon of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, chairman of the ABA committee which drafted the guidelines, to admit what we have been saying all along: that guidelines of this type are inevitably broadened in their interpretation and application rather than narrowed. Justice Reardon now says that the guidelines were not meant to be restrictive about information which the public should have about crimes committed or about the administration of justice.

The trouble with all of this is that the guidelines mean what they say, and they are restrictive. The fact is, too, that police, prosecutors and some courts already are using them even though they will not be in full effect for ABA members until and unless they are written into the organization's code of ethics next year.

Regarding use of the guidelines, Justice Reardon writes in the current issue of the ABA Journal as follows:

"We are on notice of certain incidents around the country in which the news media and the public have been denied essential information during the course of the debate on our proposals and allegedly because of them . . . the standards in no way inhibit public release by prosecutors or police of the full facts and the circumstances of an arrest when it is made or of a charge of crime."

Nice words by Justice Reardon, but he should have said them before the ABA House of Delegates. But he didn't.

Those who want to hide behind the guidelines aren't going to be swayed much by his present protestations about their not being a gag or, worse, a means through which police, prosecutors and perhaps some courts can cover up their sometimes lack of concern and regard for the rights of defendants in criminal cases. This needs more not less public exposure where it occurs now. It could occur even more if the ABA guidelines ever take full effect.

Bounty Claims Made Against City

Some months since, Dr. A. B. Randall, who was duly credited to this city as a Volunteer, and who did not receive any government bounty, as we are informed and believed, presented its claim to the Common Council for $200.

Soon afterwards, ex-Alderman Ming (Hiram Ming), a soldier of the Third Cavalry, who stood in exactly the same relation, presented his account for bounty.

Then Sam Ryan, Jr., who was credited to this city as a three years volunteer, and who had received no government bounty, because of muster-out on the organization of the cavalry force, submitted his claim for $200.

After that, others who had received government bounty, and at least one who never mustered or served as a soldier, as we are informed, presented similar claims.

This is the history of this "raid on the treasury" as it is called by some who don't know what they are talking about. The Common Council has seen fit to reject all claims. When we get ready, we shall try what virtue there is in stone, through Judge Washburne's Court.

New Police Techniques Tried Out In Washington in Recent Rioting

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The disorders set in motion by the murder of Martin Luther King may be only a mild foretaste of what is yet to come — particularly in the hot summer days ahead. But experience here in Washington at least has taught some lessons that can be usefully applied to limit further trouble.

Kraft

For Washington controlled with a minimum of bloodshed what could have been a mass slaughter. This city was able to do that mainly because it had been following some of the recommendations of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders. It had moved toward the right conditions for meeting the critical black and blue problem — the problem of how the police deal with the Negro community during a period of extreme racial tension.

The first lesson of the Washington experience is that the handling of civil disorders is too important to be left entirely to the professional law enforcement officers. As distinct from Newark and Detroit, the political authorities in Washington did not turn matters over entirely to the police. On the contrary, Mayor Walter Washington asserted his own responsibility, and authority, at the outset.

NEW POLICE STRATEGY

The political authority was the more effective because the chief police officials here are men sensitive to the community implications of police action. They have been training their forces for months in the techniques of riot control. And from the outset of the trouble, they adopted a strategy aimed at containing disorder, not at suppressing crime. In keeping with that strategy, force was used with great care and discrimination. In general, this meant that police officers were not sent into areas where shortage of manpower would have forced them to resort to firepower. At one point, indeed, when a dangerous confrontation of uncertain outcome loomed up, the police were ordered to disengage.

Specifically, the strategy implied restraint in each particular encounter. Youthful offenders were turned back to their parents. Persons who merely broke curfew were booked and sent home, not arrested and held for days, as in other cities last summer. Angry demands (some by well-known Senators) that looters be shot were rejected.

Only when the forces of law and order had achieved an overwhelming superiority, thanks to reinforcement by federal troops, was there a full-scale effort to take control. And even then, in clearing the streets, the police used chemicals rather than lethal weapons. Thus at no time, though this city is full of weapons in private hands, was there any general violence.

To be sure, enormous damage was done, both morally and materially, before sufficient force was on hand. And this is the more serious since mobilizing large forces rapidly should be particularly easy in Washington because Fort Myer and Fort McNair are within miles of the center city, while the airborne troops at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, are only hours away. Thus the Washington experience demonstrates, with even more relevance for other cities, the acute problem involved in mobilizing large numbers of forces for anti-riot duties in the cities.

GUARD NOT ANSWER

The answer to this problem is not yet clear. Calling up the National Guard is not answer, because the Guardsmen, even if they had the necessary training and mobility, are part-timers who cannot be long away from their regular jobs. A national police force is repugnant to this country's traditions. City police forces are too small and locally focused to be moved from one community to another in case of an emergency.

Still, there is work being done and suggestions in the works. One idea is being developed by Arnold Sagalyn, who did much of the work regarding police for the President's Commission on Civil Disorders. He thinks that it might be possible for each state to develop riot forces, specially trained and with mobile equipment, to be available for concentration at quick notice in cities where trouble struck.

Some new development along these lines is essential in the near future. For even when the police work well, as here in Washington, the cost of disorder comes extremely high.

Not materially, but morally and politically. For the disorders do not promote in the white community a mood of concern to undo the wrongs that now afflict the black community. On the contrary, the disorders promote more of the backlash attitude which works against the constructive actions necessary to improve race relations in this country.

MY ANALYSIS IS BEGINNING TO WORK-

I DON'T FEEL I HAVE TO VOTE STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC ANY MORE-

Wisconsin Report
Republicans Exhibit
Confidence Over Fall
Elections in State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the fundamental rules of Wisconsin party politics is that the spring presidential primaries provide hazardous and elusive clues to what may happen in the general elections in the fall, if indeed they provide clues of any usefulness whatever.

The reason, of course, is that the Wisconsin primary is "open." Voters for decades have had the habit of crossing over into that column that provides the most interest, or action, or excitement, tens of thousands of them knowing full well that they will return to their normal partisan moorings in the final selections of November.

Wyngaard

In the years when the Republican presidential primaries provided the action here, the Democrats did the moving over. In 1960 and again this year it was manifest to anyone with the patience and the habit of comparing the returns of similar elections that the Republicans "crossed over."

DEMOCRATS DRAW CONCLUSIONS

It is natural for the Democrats, when they take their attention away from the wounds of their bitter primary struggle and the possibility that the hurt may not easily be assuaged, to draw some optimistic conclusions that they got the lion's share of the total presidential preference vote this spring.

Doubtless it is also pleasant for them to contemplate the fact that Richard Nixon, running without important competition, got only 32 per cent of the total vote polled, and that Sen. McCarthy, who had to fight the regular Democratic organization and the name and power of the Johnson administration, bested him by a hairline, with about 33 per cent.

But all such considerations are not really meaningful, in terms of portents for the fall.

REPUBLICANS ARE CONFIDENT

The fact is that the Republicans are as confident about their prospect in November as this reporter has seen them a long time. They are confident about carrying Wisconsin "from the courthouse to White House," as the hackneyed but nevertheless favorite phrase has it.

The reasons are several reasonably apparent. First, the Republican statisticians remember the 1960 experience when Nixon was also run alone — literally alone — was overlooked by voters who crossed over to Democratic ballot to take hand in the deadly serious no quarter fight between Humphrey and the late J. F. Kennedy. Nixon got about 28 per cent of the vote that time, but he carried Wisconsin over Kennedy by a fairly decisive margin in fall, nevertheless.

Some Democrats argue, with some logic, that Kennedy won some votes in that encounter with Nixon because of religion, a factor most politicians believe would not be important now. Yet even that is conceded, there are other optimistic omens for Wisconsin GOP.

PARTY IS UNIFIED

The Republican state treasury is virtually untouched while the Democratic organization is hurting financially. Republican organization morale is high. The party, perhaps as unified as it has been since the day nearly years ago that it unhorsed last LaFollette state administration. It will field candidates better known than their probable Democratic rivals. It maintains a heavy majority control of the courthouse places, critically important in the mechanics of campaign organization.

As far as events can now foretell, the GOP will have reasonably peaceful national convention, while the Democratic nomination procedure are almost sure to be bitter, protracted, and fracturing the party's campaign abroad and spirit.

That is why, and with all the chances for the fact that accidents can happen and often the consensus of the world Republican politicians of state today is that Wisconsin victory will be theirs in fall.

"I half froze waiting right here in the freezing cold for hours to see Jack Kennedy back in 1960," the union man told us. "But I wouldn't wait one minute for that little blinkety-blank Bobby."

Evans Novak

His view is shared with amazing consistency by the functionaries of both organized labor and the Democratic party in Western Pennsylvania. Their deep-seated anti-Bobby feeling helps explain the Humphrey-for-President boom that greeted the Vice President here when he arrived for the state AFL-CIO convention.
Actually, Kennedy's closest political advisors anticipated that these regulars would be solidly for President Johnson against Kennedy's challenge. But they hoped Kennedy would pick up some important party and labor support once Mr. Johnson dropped out.
He did not. Telephone calls union functionaries that evening, we heard not one kind word about Bobby. What makes this particularly important is that Pennsylvania's atrophied Democratic party, here as in other key industrial states, has just about ceded its functions to organized labor.

Don't Trust Him
Although labor has become an increasingly conservative force in politics, Kennedy's left-of-center stands on Vietnam and the Negro question do not seem a principal source of his unpopularity.
Rather, both the union and party stalwarts oppose Kennedy mainly because they feel they cannot trust him though they can trust Humphrey. When Kennedy switched direction on March 16 and opposed President Johnson, he demonstrated to the regulars that he was undependable and changeable — qualities they do not value highly in a politician.

But these Western Pennsylvania Democrats are not Goldwaterite Republicans valuing regularity above all else. It is significant that County Commissioner Leonard Staisey, a rising Democratic force, here is endorsing nobody until the situation becomes less fluid. While no admirer of Kennedy, Staisey wants a winner to head the ticket in November.

That fits perfectly with Kennedy's grand strategy of converting the regulars through his mass support. But that support may not be quite so easy to demonstrate here. For instance, prior to Mr. Johnson's withdrawal, polls in this area showed him consistently more popular than Kennedy. Nor would Kennedy backers here be foolish enough to risk a write-in campaign against Sen. Eugene McCarthy, alone on the ballot in the state preferential primary on April 23.
Indeed, the initiative here is Humphrey's. If he can re-establish a political identity independent of Lyndon B. Johnson and show some strength in the polls, the regulars would dearly love to commit themselves irrevocably to him.

One such regular, high in party councils here, feels that if Humphrey does not get rolling and a draft-Johnson movement does not develop, he would then prefer even McCarthy to Kennedy. That was the voice of emotion rather than cold reason, but it was an anti-Kennedy voice of the regular which the high-riding Kennedy managers in Washington can ill afford to ignore.

Family's Lot Improved by Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the hundreds of fires that swept sections of the nation's capital after violence broke out last Thursday night destroyed the four-room apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Everett, parents of five.
A social agency helping the several hundred people made homeless by similar fires found the Everetts a new place to live — a three-story, white brick row house at $9 less rent a month and with two more bedrooms than they had.

Your Money's Worth

Many Factors Affect Buyer's Credit Rating

BY SYLVIA PORTER
A young army veteran, with a wife and two children, was recently turned down for an FHA mortgage which he needed to buy a new home in eastern Texas.

The reason: information at the local credit bureau showed him to be a bad credit risk. Astonished, the veteran visited the credit bureau and discovered that the reason for his credit troubles was that his former wife had run up a lot of unpaid bills just prior to their divorce. The veteran explained that he had been unaware of the bills and the bureau agreed that his credit record should not suffer because of his estranged wife's irresponsibility. His credit record was cleared and he got the mortgage he needed.

Consumer installment credit outstanding is now crossing the $100 billion mark. The ease with which you, the consumer, can open a charge account, get a new credit card or take out a bank loan is directly dependent on the voluminous records kept by credit bureaus throughout the U.S. on virtually every borrower or potential borrower. The above true story is just one illustration of how voluminous.

Credit Reports
Last year alone, the 2,100 member bureaus of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America made more than 97,000,000 credit reports to banks, department stores, doctors, credit card companies and other credit granters in some 36,000 U.S. communities. In addition, these credit bureaus counseled thousands of Americans with a wide range of credit problems, and managed to find solutions to the problems in a vast majority of cases.

Credit bureaus do not "rate" you; as to how good or bad a credit risk you are. They simply collect information on you which can be used by local banks, merchants, etc., to decide whether to grant you credit. The information ranges from your name, address, occupation, employer and earnings to your former employment and earnings record, your marital history, your moving habits, your repayment habits on previous loans and records of any court proceedings against you.

Guidelines Vary

Local lenders then decide, on the basis of information provided by the credit bureau, whether or not you are a good credit risk. The guidelines vary from lender to lender, of course: a department store may be satisfied if you are in the habit of repaying charges within 30-60 days, while a bank may demand that with very few exceptions you repay bank loan installments on the due dates.

Here are key rules to help you maintain a good credit record and to restore one once it has gone bad:

—To keep a good credit record, avoid overloading yourself with installment debt. As a rule of thumb, an average of 14-15 cents out of every spending dollar goes to repay installment debt. Also, aim for a "rainy day" fund equivalent to several weeks' pay to protect your family in the event of financial emergencies.

Repay All Debts

—Repay all your debts as agreed. But if you find you are unable to meet one or more payments on time, go to the creditors involved, explain your circumstances, and try to work out a more practical repayment schedule. The problem could be simply that payments on a loan or a purchase fall due on the 12th of the month, while your paycheck doesn't arrive until the 15th.

—Do everything possible to avoid such extreme measures as repossession, litigation or having your account turned over to a collection agency. However, if any of these is threatened, go to your credit bureau and explain what happened. The bureau will probably be able to persuade your creditors to go along with a new repayment plan worked out for you, or may refer you to a reliable local family credit counseling service.

If you are turned down for credit and believe this is unwarranted, ask your credit bureau to reinvestigate the facts — and to suggest to you ways to rehabilitate your record if it isn't satisfactory.

Kaukauna Seeks Classroom Space

Church Space Rental Plan Is Considered by Education Board

KAUKAUNA — The Kaukauna School District, currently renting three classrooms at St. Mary Catholic School, is seeking approval for renting classroom space in other churches for the 1968-69 school year.

The board of education Tuesday night authorized Thomas Nytes, business manager, to contact the state building inspector to study buildings to be utilized for classroom rental for the new school year.

Because it is anticipated that all schools will be filled to capacity next year the building committee has been studying potential classroom space in churches.

At present the district seeks two rooms for full-time use and one classroom which can be used for one-half day.

Four Rooms

It was reported that the Methodist Church has four rooms which could serve as classrooms and basement rooms in Immanuel United Church and Bethany Lutheran Church will also be considered for possible use as classrooms. Approval of the State Building Commission is necessary before rooms in city, Columbia, S.A., and Miss these areas could be used by Mary Ann Kubsch, Title 1 program, Holy Family College.

Discussion was held on two northside school sites, but no action taken after some members felt additional sites should be studied. The board will view possible sites at 3 p.m. April 17 after which they will hold a special board meeting to select a site. Options on the two pieces of property currently being considered by the board will expire about May 15.

Dominic Bordini, former director of the Vocational School recommended construction of a 70 by 100-foot addition adjacent to present facilities for use as an auto shop. The addition would be located east of the existing building and require only three walls since an existing wall would be utilized.

Pointing to the overcrowding at all shops in the vocational education area, Bordini said the auto shop had been planned by the vocational school board several years ago, but was not undertaken following district reorganization. He estimated cost of the facility at between $70,000 and $85,000 and explained how the metal fabricating shop, welding shop and graphic arts department of the school could be improved through the building addition.

In other action, the board accepted teacher resignations and awarded contracts for the 1968-69 school year.

Resignations
Resigning were Mrs. Grace Fuller, first grade; Miss Nancy Brungaber, second grade, and Jerome Steffen, industrial arts teacher, Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools, reported the district was now short three industrial arts teachers for next year.

Teacher contracts went to Miss Germaine Hall, second grade; Miss Janice Christoffel, first grade, and Miss Judith Boltz, third grade, all Holy Family College graduates; Mrs. Louise Van Der Horst, first, WSU-Stevens Point; Miss Mary Loos, special education, WSU-Oshkosh; Mrs. Marian Walsh, kindergarten, WSU-River Falls; Mrs. Patricia Kallander, high school English, Iowa State College; Miss Karen Techlin, first grade, WSU-Oshkosh; Douglas Giffin, high school science, Lawrence University; Mrs. Jean Larson, elementary librarian, WSU-Eau Claire; Miss Sonia Perez, high school Spanish, Bogota Univer-

New Council Will Govern At Lawrence

Lawrence Bandmaster To Conduct in Hawaii

Lawrence University bandmaster Fred G. Schroeder will travel to Hawaii April 28, climaxing a series of appearances at school music clinics and festivals late in the month.

Schroeder, a professor of music, will be in Hawaii for two weeks to conduct public school clinics and two workshops at the University of Hawaii. He will visit school instrumental departments on outlying islands, and will lead a concert by massed bands from Honolulu in the closing event of a citywide, week-long music festival.

The Lawrence University Community Council, the first major change in the form of student government in several decades, has been voted into existence by faculty and students on the Lawrence campus, and awaits action by the board of trustees.

The new council, sought by student leaders for the past few years, aims to bring students and faculty together "to improve the administration of student affairs and perpetuate the goals of Lawrence University." Approved this month by a separate vote of faculty and the student body, the new LUCC constitution calls for the election of student officers later this spring and the subsequent dissolving of the former governing body, the 43-member student senate.

At the end of a two-year period, the LUCC constitution will face a formal review and undergo a second ratification.

The council is to be composed of 12 student and eight faculty members, each chosen by their respective groups. All student candidates must be in good academic standing and will be elected from a designated constituency of dormitory and residence units.

Functions of the council are "to represent the Lawrence community and to bring to its attention matters affecting its welfare; to legislate on noncurricular matters pertaining to the interests of the community; to review, at its option, the decisions of the committee on committees or of the standing committees and to overrule those decisions by a two-thirds vote when it deems that action appropriate.

Official to Discuss Local Government Job Opportunities

Douglas Weiford, secretary of the Department of Local Affairs and Development of the State of Wisconsin, will be on the Lawrence University campus April 17 to outline educational programs and career opportunities in urban affairs.

A 1968 survey of all U.S. cities over 25,000 population conducted by the International City Managers' Association indicated nearly 2,500 job openings for professional and managerial personnel in slightly more than 300 cities. Survey results also indicated that the majority of cities reporting had about 10 per cent of their budgeted positions for managerial and professional personnel unfilled at the end of 1967.

To solve these manpower problems, the International City Managers' Association has launched a massive program to interest college students in careers in local government, in a series of "information visits" conducted by city managers and urban administrators.

Weiford is former city manager of Eau Claire. His visit is being arranged by Marie Dohr, director of placement.

independence day

The day you turn 65 is a wonderful event to be sure. Recently it has taken on a new significance. It has become the age of independence. Federal Medicare and a new WPS plan called Medicare-PLUS $15,000 have largely removed the old lurking fear of dependency through illness or injury. WPS Medicare PLUS $15,000 takes over where the federal program ends. This amazing WPS/Blue Shield policy does exactly what its name implies — pays up to $15,000 for each insured illness or injury. It provides for unlimited hospital and nursing home days, drugs, home care, private duty nurse and many other outstanding benefits. For more information on this policy physicians recommend for folks 65 or over, see or call your WPS agent. You'll find him in the Yellow Pages.

Revenues for Fiscal Year at Record Levels

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — State revenues and expenditures during the last fiscal year rose to record highs, but the taxes of general application that supported them provided a lower ratio of income for the state treasury than most taxpayers probably assume.

In his annual report to the legislature, State Auditor Lyle Carpenter disclosed that what he classifies as "taxes" accounted for only about six dollars out of each ten of state treasury revenue, in a year when those revenues soared to an all-time high level of $1,385,915,000.

Twenty per cent of the gross revenues of the state were accounted for by "fees and earnings," and nearly 19 per cent by federal aids and grants, which while growing in importance in the state fiscal system, are not as important here as in some other state budgets in the country.

Narrow Definition

Carpenter's use of the word "taxes," following statutory definitions, may appear to some taxpayers to be narrow.

The state "taxes" he lists are those on income, public utilities and insurance, inheritances and gifts, excise and sales, motor fuel taxes net after refunds, the small state forestry tax, and a small miscellany of others.

Under "fees" he lists such major sources of state income as the revenue from hunting and fishing and other conservation department licenses, and motor vehicle registration income. Major sources of "earnings" are the proprietary receipts of the state's institutions of higher learning, as for tuition, room and board and other payments by students.

Aid Beneficiary

Education is the principal federal aid beneficiary within the state government, with nearly half of the total, followed by welfare, with more than a third of the total.

State government activities during the year represented about 56 per cent of its record disbursements, with public education and transportation the giants among them. State tax apportionments, state aid allocations, and federal aid allocations to localities represented about 44 per cent of total state spending for the year.

Schaefer's Campaign Cost $1,872

New Judge Also Reports $207.88 In Contributions

His successful bid for election as Outagamie County judge cost Nick Schaefer a total of $1,872.29, according to expense statements filed Tuesday in the county clerk's office. The new judge also reported total contributions to his campaign of $207.88.

Schaefer's opponent in the April 2 election, Joseph Van Susteren, had not filed his final expense statement by the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline.

In county supervisor campaigns, a candidate without opposition, G. Allen Bubolz, had the highest campaign cost, $226.56.

Man Receives Canons for Character

EDITORS NOTE — Moses went up on Mt. Sinai and when he came back he had the most important law of the Jewish people — from that time to this — the 10 Commandments. The celebration of the giving of the 10 Commandments is called Shavuoth and it is discussed in the fourth of five articles about the religious festivals of spring.

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

On a peak of history, near noon, the world got its canons for character — its keys to civilization.

The instructions came, like lightning, in a desolate environment.

They pointed "a way in the wilderness" of uncertainties, let loose "rivers in the desert" of distress, and amid confusion, as traced in prophetic imagery, lifted up "an ensign for the nations."

"Then let us rejoice!" goes a Jewish hymn celebrating the occasion.

It happened far back in antiquity, and ever since, it has provided the basic pattern of public order, laid down the principles of human integrity and set the universal standards for organized society.

Landmark Event

That landmark event is celebrated on Shavuoth, the Feast of the Weeks, the season of the giving of the decalogue — the 10 Commandments.

"Almighty God, o'er all supreme," the congregations chant from a prayer of praise, the Akdamuth. "Thrice holy He whose majesty fills earth from end to end . . . Day and night shall be His light, a canopy of splendor."

As an old rabbinic allegory tells it, the divine voice in declaring the great statutes was divided into the 70 tongues then spoken on the earth so that all mankind could receive and understand them.

For God's house is "for all people's," declares the prophet Isaiah. "Let all the nations gather together, and let the peoples be assembled."

The observance comes late in the springtime sequence of joyful religious holidays, on the eve of summer, seven weeks after the Passover, and by the Hebrew calendar, on the 6th of Sivan, beginning this year at sundown June 2, and extending through the next day.

It also is known as the Feast of the Harvest, since it comes at the time the grain reaping is finished in Palestine, and when the first fruits ripen.

The celebration coincides, both in origin and observance, with the Christian Pentecost, marking the divine outpouring of spiritual understanding that revitalized Christ's apostles and started the church.

Guidance Gift

The two occasions correspond vividly in significance — both commemorating God's gift of guidance.

There's also another general resemblance in that just as followers of Christ were aroused on Pentecost to their obligation to carry on His mission, so the giving of the Commandments bound Israel to raise God's standards among men.

"If you will obey My voice and keep My covenant," came the divine promise to the Israelites, "you shall be My own possession among all people . . . and you shall be to Me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation."

As that Biblical covenant unfolds, God first had bestowed His grace freely in the deliverance from Egyptian slavery, making clear His redemptive support and asking nothing in return, but afterward, the Commandments set man's part in the pact.

The mighty, illuminating code came in a dim era, more than 3,250 years ago, about 1,300 B.C., long before such advanced ideals had even been hinted in the predominant pagan empires of Egypt and Persia.

Historians have puzzled over how such elevated thought could have emanated so early from such a comparatively meager, obscure community.

Remote Spot

Even when the Biblical record was compiled in its present form, about 900-600 B.C., Israel remained a rustic, remote spot, totally overshadowed by the showy panoplies of Greece and Rome.

Yet strangely, as subsequent centuries unrolled, the old covenant worked its way, and the Commandments infiltrated the maturing governments and courts of men. Theologians call it one of the mysteries of Israel.

Her people, when the decalogue was first given, were a wandering, homeless lot. They had fled only seven weeks before from slavery under Pharaoh Ramses II, and were encamped in the wilderness of Siani, beside a mountain of that name.

Their leader, Moses, in solitude on that height as the morning sun neared noon, in an intense experience depicted by Scripture's graphic Hebrew literary style as thunder, churning clouds, smoke, lightning and a crescendo of trumpets, received the law.

A "crown of glory," the holiday ritual calls it. It is read in synagogue services for the day.

No Other Gods

"You shall have no other gods before Me . . . You shall not make yourselves graven images or . . . bow down to them. You shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain . . . Remember the sabbath . . . Honor your father and mother . . .

"You shall not kill. You shall not commit adultery. You shall not steal. You shall not bear false witness . . . You shall not covet . . ."

Curiously, while some casual notions quibble at the prohibitive nature of some of the laws, legal authorities recognize that specific prohibitions are the most liberating judicial approach, since it restricts only at limited points, leaving the broader areas free.

The meaning of the principles also takes on continuing application in every age, warning against narrow gods of race, state, wealth or fame, and against reducing the infinite to some small-size image of a benign grandfather, a kind of deity the great statutes long ago called dead.

The classic code, in regard to God's name, doesn't simply refer to cusswords, but insists that the divine relationship be taken seriously. The sabbath injunction points to the rhythm of life, to man's need for rest and renewal, as recognized in enlightened labor practices.

Don't Begudge

Respecting parents brings out the interdependent fabric of living, that a person's development is not in isolation, but involves obligations to teachers, home and others. Not coveting means not begrudging achievement by others, but mutual encouragement of it.

Regarding adultery, the Bible is not prudish about sex, but sees its misuse as personally harmful, and maintains that love includes fidelity. This, however much violated, is the foundation of family life in all stable cultures, including polygamous ones.

The laws against lying, stealing and killing are the bedrock of civic order, with much wider moral implications when such modern evils as starvation deaths are seen as indirectly attributable to the hoarding of the affluent.

State Near Approval Of Sewage Treatment, Water for Park Area

Indicates Intention to Use Sanitary District's Facilities

MADISON — State officials have indicated a willingness to use the High Cliff Sanitary District Commission as proposed sewage treatment facilities and its water supply for High Cliff State Park it was learned this week.

A. E. Ehly, acting director of parks and recreation, State Department of Natural Resources, said that the joint use arrangement would be "contingent upon commission approval for construction, cost and the contractual agreement."

The Division of Conservation, Ehly said, has requested the state bureau of engineering to work with the sanitary district's engineer in preparing plans for the park's needs and also suggested that a rough draft of a legal agreement for sewage treatment and water supply between the district and the state be prepared. The language of the contract would be studied by the Division of Conservation's legal section.

The sanitary district, which will serve the future needs of a proposed recreational-residential development adjacent to High Cliff State Park, has purchased land for a sewage treatment plant northeast of the Calumet County community of Sherwood. Treated effluents will be discharged into the Manitowoc River watershed.

Plant in District

Initially the sanitary district had considered a treatment plant within the boundaries of the district with effluent being discharged into Lake Winnebago. The state balked at the first plan because it called for the effluent to go into the marina at the state park but then gave tentative verbal approval to a plant which would have piped the effluent into Winnebago north of the marina. Referring to the plan, Leonard Montie, director of the DRD quality management group, indicated that the DRD might have approved a plan in which the sanitary district used an extended pipeline to carry waste to a suitable depth in the lake.

Federal Aid Sought

The commission initially applied for a $110,850 Federal Water Pollution Control Administration (FWPCA) grant in early March. The request was for a complete new sewer and sanitary works, including pumping stations, and the applicants said on the request "the project will discharge treated waste into the Manitowoc River watershed."

Thomas Reardon, DRD grant-in-aid section chief, said he returned the request March 5 because the application lacked some minor details. The second request was accepted by the DRD in late March, Reardon said.

He said the commission apparently also made requests for two Farmers Home Administration (FHA) loans for the sewer project, including one for $166,275.

Perry-Carrington Engineering Corp., Marshfield-based consulting engineers for the commission, said in a letter April 3 the "present grant requests . . . are based on population of 1,430 people (estimated by 1972) only because of the present legal boundaries of the sanitary district."

Anticipated Results

The letter, written to the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG), said the commission felt it could not ask for funds based on anticipated results of legal procedures in progress.

However, Clarence H. Perry, of the engineering firm, said in the letter the commission would "be pleased to enter an arrangement" with Sherwood regardless of the outcome of its incorporation action but that this would "necessarily affect the size of additions to the treatment plant."

Sherwood's second petition for incorporation as a village was approved March 27 by Circuit Court Judge Arnold Cane, and was to be acted on by the DRD within 20 days from that date, but has now indicated it will take an additional 10 days. If approved, a referendum will be held.

Complaints of Window Breakage Continues

KAUKAUNA — Two more cases of window breakage were reported to police Monday, one not previously reported from last week and the second believed to have taken place over the weekend.

Gustman Chevrolet Sales, Inc., 222 Laws St., reported BB holes in a window while Robert Schubring, 1027 Desnoyer St., reported a car window smashed over the weekend.

Supreme Court Backs Ruling by Judge Parnell

Negligence Case at Shawano Involved Soo Line Railroad

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin Supreme Court Tuesday affirmed the decision of Appleton Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell of Appleton, sitting in Shawano County, in a negligence case arising out of a collision between a railroad track car and an automobile more than four years ago.

The court held that the trial judge was correct in his rulings on the admissibility of evidence in the trial in which a jury upon a special verdict found Wayne Hetzer, driver of the automobile, 75 per cent negligent, and Bert J. Marolla, operator of the railroad track car, 25 per cent negligent.

The accident occurred late in 1963 at the intersection of the Soo Line Railroad Tracks and a town road in Morgan Siding in Shawano County.

The case came to the Supreme Court on the appeal of the American Family Insurance Co., insurer of Hetzer.

Counterclaim

Marolla brought suit for the injuries he sustained, together with loss of income and expense incurred as a result of the accident. The insurance firm counterclaimed against Marolla for the amount it had paid Hetzer for damages to his automobile.

The company moved for a new trial on the grounds that the trial erred in refusing to admit in evidence a safety rule of the Soo Line Railroad and evidence of custom, both relating to the stopping of track cars at highway crossings. The trial court denied the motion and entered judgment on the verdict.

Judge Bruce Beilfuss, writing for the Supreme Court, upheld the trial court, holding that the jury was given accurate instructions on the common-law duty of the track car operator, and that the rules of the railroad and custom in such situations are not relevant under the law.

Sen. Alexander Wiley Prize Is Established at Lawrence

An undergraduate prize memorializing the name of the late Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin has been established at Lawrence University by his grandchildren, acting through Alexander Wilde, an alumnus with the class of 1962.

The Wiley prize is to be awarded "to that undergraduate, preferably a senior, who has in his college years most demonstrated a principled independence of thought, moral courage, and creative commitment to a significant cause."

The citation for the prize, which is expected to be awarded for the first time this spring, in part, is as follows:

"Alexander Wiley was a United States senator from Wisconsin for 24 years, longer than any other man in the history of the state.

"Throughout his lifetime, he maintained a close association with Lawrence University, marrying a Lawrence graduate and sending all four of his children to the university. . . ."

The Wiley prize will be voted upon by the faculty upon recommendation of a committee composed of junior members of the religion and government departments, the editor of the Lawrentian and the most recent past recipient of the prize if available.

Wilde, who is acting for his family in establishing the prize, is currently a student of Latin American affairs doing his doctoral work at Columbia University.

After graduating from Lawrence as a Phi Beta Kappa, Wiley studied at Keble College, Oxford University, on a Marshall scholarship and also was named recipient of a Woodrow Wilson grant. His home originally was in Wauwatosa.

Another grandchild of Sen. Wiley, Evalyn Wiley of Chippewa Falls, is currently enrolled at Lawrence.

Pan American League 'Travels' Via Film

BY ALICE K. HUCK
Post-Crescent Women's Editor

Members of the Pan American League took a trip Monday noon from Lima, Peru, over and along the Andes to Cuzco and Lake Titicaca in southern Peru and then from the north to the south of Bolivia. However, they didn't have to move from their Easter-decorated tables at the Elks Club.

Traveling was done via slides presented by Dr. Stephen Darling, whose profession is professor emeritus in chemistry at Lawrence University and research assistant at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, but whose avocation is travel slides and films.

Support Student

To provide the trip for the Pan American League women, Dr. Darling borrowed the slides from his friend, and fellow chemist, Dr. Charles Erickson, professor of chemistry at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J. Dr. Erickson has spent the past six summers in South America.

Eye Injuries Prevented By Protective Eyewear

Would you believe that annually 500,000 Americans suffer serious eye injury at home, at work and in school, and the majority of these injuries could be prevented by the regular use of protective eyewear?

Dr. Arthur H. Keeney, ophthalmologist-in-chief at the Wills Eye Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., is the honorary chairman of the Guild of Prescription Opticians of America's year-round national educational drive known as the "Protective Eyewear Program" or "PEP." He reports that close to 90 per cent of these eye injuries could be prevented if these children and adults had been wearing protective eyewear.

"If heat treated, impact-resistant safety glass or plastic lenses had been invented and available before ordinary glass lenses, hardly anyone today would knowingly endanger their eyes from ordinary glasses that can disintegrate into blinding shafts or slivers under slight impact," said Dr. Keeney.

Special Glass

He explained that protective eyewear is made of tough, shatter-resistant glass than has been heated in the special manner that steel is case hardened.

To qualify as a non-institutional protective lens, the glass must pass the rigid examination known as the "Drop Ball Test." A steel ball, five-eighths inch in diameter, is dropped from a height of 50 inches onto the lens.

"An ordinary lens would break into needle sharp fragments under such stress, while a protective lens will pass this stringent test," said Dr. Keeney.

Important Protection

The physician said it continually amazes him that the majority of the 94 million people in the U.S. wearing glasses are not concerned over whether they own protective eyewear.

"Hopefully through the Guild Optician's year-round

The Pan American League traditionally supports an exchange student at Lawrence University.

Almost all scenes in the slide-film were taken at an elevation of 8,000 feet or more, and at one point, 16,000 feet above sea level at the second highest part of the world.

As indicated by the pictures the soil is thin, the atmosphere is thinner, the climate is chilly, rain is seasonal and not heavy. Everywhere there are rocks and thin grass. The people seen are Indians, descendants of the people ruled by the Incas, with high cheekbones, dark skin and straight, black hair. Traditional dress and customs are common, though in the cities there are various mixtures with American and European styles.

The slides began on the shore of the Pacific Ocean near Lima on a rainless desert. Although it is cloudy six months of the year, which is true of much of the coastal plain, crops can be grown only where irrigation is possible.

Hills in Background

Lima, seen from the top of a 15-story hotel, is modern, but in the background are the barren hills. Climbing on the train the 100 miles from Lima to Huancayo, a passenger is subjected to 55 tunnels and many bridges. The rocks look like small mountains.

At Galera, the track is 15,690 feet above sea level, the highest point on a standard gauge track in the world, and the peaks go on from there.

The standard highland home is adobe brick, often stuccoed on the outside, with tile roofs. Wood is scarce, except near the sawmills which cut up eucalyptus trees. There are no safety rules, and the saw blade is set in the floor of the mill.

Life is difficult in this part of the world as indicated by children, who are everywhere, whose "fat" cheeks look healthy, but probably indicate some form of malnutrition. In one slide a woman was sewing uppers on shoes with a sewing machine.

Facilities Inconvenient

In Huancavelica houses have few facilities. Running water is available, but only out of the house, down the street and around the corner. But no matter what the hardships, children play, and crack the whip is a favorite game.

In Andean cities, which have a rural character, it is not unusual to see a herd of llamas being driven through a street in town.

Traveling the overland highway to Cuzco is a great experience, Mr. Erickson reports, if your stomach will stand it. Many buses are locally built on imported truck chassis. Seats are narrow and fairly hard and baggage, including live animals, is carried on the roof as at 20 miles per hour the bus negotiates the hairpin turns of the Andes. Gas stations exist only in cities, so buses and trucks have to carry gas in drums.

Casual Bouquets

By all means avoid the formal look when arranging bouquets of fresh spring flowers, says the Society of American Florists. Daffodils, tulips, narcissus, sweet peas, and sweetheart roses are especially lovely when mixed together in a relaxed and rounded Williamsburgh bouquet. For that finishing touch of greenery, add baker fern or huckleberry leaves around the base of the arrangement.

How About Tree Lights For Patriotic Holidays?

Have you put away your variety of colors while your guests are having dinner? until next December? "Strange as it may seem, Well, bring them back out! there are no city ordinances, You're not only missing a state laws or federal regulations sensible return on your initial investment by keeping them stored, but you're also passing up several opportunities this year when electric tree lights can serve both a romantic and practical purpose.

And if you hurry, you can be the first on your block.

According to Albert V. Sadacca, president of the world's largest manufacturer and importer of electric tree lights, there are at least three national occasions during any one year where electric tree lights can be used to liven up your home — Decoration Day, July 4th and Thanksgiving Day.

Variety of Uses

"You can easily liven up both the interior and exterior of your home on these holidays by simply stringing twinkling electric tree lights in strategic locations," he indicates. "Why just associate twinkling lights with Christmas when you can use them in the garden area, around exterior doors and in your living room and dining room. Can't you just imagine miniature lights twinkling in a

Gift-Giving Occasions

Sadacca also emphasizes the use of electric tree lights on very happy occasions, such as birthdays and anniversaries. The rule of the thumb should be to use the lights on gift-giving occasions.

"These are happy occasions, and the twinkling lights constantly reflect happiness, and that is as good a reason as any. Everybody admits that outside lights at Christmas time give a warm feeling, so why just stop at Christmas time?"

In the way of practical ideas, Sadacca suggests using red, white and blue electric light decorations for patriotic days and even offers a challenge. "Can you lay out an American inflag of twinkling lights on your lawn?"

Why not turn your house "on" this summer?

At the other table of the match, Pierre Ghestem and Rene Bacherich, of the European team, bid their way up to six diamonds on the North-South cards, with South as declarer. If I told you how the bidding went you wouldn't believe me, but let's not sniff, because six diamonds was a very fine contract.

West opened the eight of spades, and Ghestem won with the ten. He led a diamond, forcing out the ace, and took the heart return with the ace. And then Ghestem made a true expert's mistake.

Ghestem ruffed a heart in dummy, got to his hand with the ace of spades to ruff another heart, led a club to the ace and ruffed his last heart. Then he led dummy's last trump and overtook with the king. If the five missing trumps had broken 3-2, Ghestem would have made his slam. With the

Lovelier You Grooming Hints

The key to attractive looks at every age is excellent grooming. Anything else, including your new spring finery, is so much trimming. More's the pity, when slips in grooming may not stem from carelessness but from seemingly insoluble problems.

There are a number of the latter on the agenda at the moment. A check list follows with suggested remedies:

—Bristly, dull endy hair that no amount of care improves. Use of an instant conditioner after shampoos could fix the trouble. How? Ingredients counter-balance the negative charge of electricity that causes the hair of an ailing head to fuzz and break. Fanciful? Not according to laboratory tests.

—A dingy smile, in spite of good dental care. Several dentifrices claim to brighten the teeth and keep them in ultra bright condition.

—Splitting nails. Brush-on products containing protein help to strengthen the nails, which are themselves protein in character.

—A leg complexion that appears too pale, or too veined for wearing stockings with open textures. As warm weather approaches, the answer to this is leg make-up. Liquids are the quickest to apply; creams give the densest coverage.

—“Spring” feet — discomfort from new shoes and warm weather. Massage the feet with a creamy foot lotion before donning shoes. Dust shoes with foot powder.

Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for Your Grooming — A to Z, a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bathe for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes, polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. # Husband Forgives His Wife; Treats New Baby as His Own

BY ANN LANDERS
 DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 27 and the mother of three children. Last year I did something I am very much ashamed of. I had an affair with a man who plays golf with my husband and belongs to our bridge group. He is married and has a family. My youngest child was fathered by this man and he knows it. My husband knows it, too, and he has been a saint. He treats the baby just as lovingly as he does the two older children and has never once thrown up to me the fact that the child is not his.

Does the real father have any legal responsibility toward the child?—B.W.D.

Dear B.: The man has no legal responsibility whatever.

Landers

According to the law your husband is the father of the child.

On the personal side, consider yourself extremely fortunate that your husband is such a forgiving soul. He could have bounced you out on your head and taken the two older children.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to think that anyone who would write to you for help would have to be nuts. Well, I guess I am nuts like the rest of them because here I am with my problem.

When I was in high school 15 years ago I went steady with Nick. He was the All-American boy — football, basketball, track musician, debater and president of his class. He went to the state university and my family moved to Phoenix. We lost track of each other.

About three years ago I heard he is married and lives in Cincinnati. I am now happily married and the mother of three children. Our national sorority convention is going to be held in Cincinnati in May and I would love to call Nickey. I'm ashamed to tell you how excited I get at the thought of seeing him again.

Would it be wrong to invite him to the hotel. . . just for a cup of coffee — for old time's sake? Believe me, Ann, all I want to do is see if he is still handsome, exciting and sexy. — No Ulterior Motives

Dear No: If all you want is to see if Nickey is still handsome, exciting and sexy, by all means invite him to the hotel for a cup of coffee. But be sure to tell him to bring his wife — just in case he is.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am only 14 but I have the face and figure to get any boy 17. I had a date last night and we got lost. I didn't get home until 2:30 a.m. My mother yelled so loud she woke up the whole house. Then she got madder yet because she smelled cigarette smoke in my hair. I told her my date smoked and not me — then my purse fell open and the cigarettes dropped out. Now my mother says I am grounded for two weeks. She watches me like a hawk and treats me like a criminal. Help! Help!

Please answer in the paper. My mother won't buy me stamps. — Prisoner

Dear P: So your mother won't buy you stamps? Who buys your cigarettes?

You sound like a real hand-ful, Toots, and my only comment on your punishment is that it's too light. No point in my lecturing you about cigarettes or anything else, for that matter. For your 16th birthday your mother should give you a color picture of your lungs.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents. . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Post-Crescent enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Family Members Should Decide New Home Needs

Before building or buying a new house, it's a good idea for all members of the family to sit down together and decide what they want in a home.

Shelter, a place to eat, sleep, relax and entertain are broad, obvious needs that will vary greatly in the requirements of individual families. Beyond the necessities — the things you must have in a home — are dividends of good living in the things you want but could do without.

Separate checklists of the things the family needs and those things members of it would like in a home can be extremely helpful in househunting or developing satisfactory plans. They make it easier to evaluate houses of different prices in terms of the life they would make possible for the family.

Ailing House Flying Ants Could be Termites

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Recently I came across quite a few winged ants in the basement of my weekend cottage in the woods. At least, I think they are ants. But how can I make sure they are not termites? — Milwaukee.

A: Ants have an "hour-glass" figure, while termites have no "waistline." However, waste no time in getting a positive identification from a reliable exterminator or a capable "bug man" at the nearest Department of Agriculture office. Speed could pay you well.

Q: I was very careful, I thought, when I revarnished a table for the children's play room. But even though I put on thin coats and allowed good drying time, the varnish is still tacky. Why is this? — Buffalo.

A: This can happen if you put the varnish on before removing 100 per cent of any wax or furniture polish. Can also result from a prime coat of shellac which is more than six months old. Sorry, but all you can do is remove the varnish with paint remover, then use wax remover, clean thoroughly and start over.

Q: Last summer, to keep sticks, leaves and other debris from clogging my roof gutters, I covered them with screening. This slopes down from the roof edge, over the outer edge of the gutter. It worked very well. But now it supports so much ice and snow it is causing an ice dam. What should I do? Remove the screening, then have to put it all up again in spring? — Milwaukee.

A: Quite likely. But first you could try two-or-three-foot-high zigzags of electric heating wires, running from the outer edge of the gutter screen up over the roof for a few feet. This could cause enough melting so there would be no more pile-up at the roof edge to cause the ice dam. Worth trying, at least!

Q: Is there any treatment for copper screens so they will not cause staining on the siding below the windows? — Grand Rapids.

A: Many hardware and paint stores stock special clear screen enamel. This will put on a coating which will protect the copper from exposure to weather, so there is no chance of oxidation from rain. This is applied with a special screen applicator which will prevent clogging of the mesh. You can make your own by tacking a small piece of carpeting, nap side out, over a chunky block of wood.

Live Within Your Income

Clothing Budget Must Grow As Prices Continue to Rise

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: We want to increase our clothing allotment in the near future, and would like a realistic point of view on how much to budget for our size family and income.

There are five children — girls 16, 13, and 6, and boys 9 and 3. For myself and these five, I'm now allowing $60 a month, plus an additional gift of $10 per person from relatives for Christmas. My husband's income is $15,000 a year. He allots himself about $120 annually for his clothes, so they aren't included in my budget.

The hand-me-down system doesn't work out very well in our family, as age gaps and types of build make it difficult to get "second rounds" on most garments.

We have no debts, so feel we can spend a little more on clothing than we've been doing. How much of a raise would you say we can afford?

East Coast Reader

Dear Reader: I'd say $85 a month — or a $25 raise — would be reasonable. So, adding in the Christmas gifts, that would be an annual $1,080 for the six of you. You now have $900 a year for family clothing, which, assuming a net income of approximately $12,725, is about 7 per cent of spendable funds. Families usually operate in the 9 to 10 per cent range. This would amount to from $1,145 to $1,273 for your household. Since your husband holds his clothing expenditures to $120, your grand total would be $1,200 a year if you up your present allotment to $85 a month.

It's not surprising that you feel a touch pinched in the clothing category. Not only are you operating under par, but apparel prices and the cost of upkeep continue to rise. Latest word from the Bureau of Labor Statistics is that the over-all increase of apparel is 4.1 per cent. Some of the figures contributing to this rise are listed below.

From November, 1966, to November, 1967, footwear went up in price 3.9 per cent; men's and boys' apparel rose 3.7 per cent; women's and girls' apparel showed a rise of 5.3 per cent.

That $120 a year your husband has found adequate up till now may not survive 1968.

Dear Mary Feeley:

My friends inform me that if they sell a house on contract, they can avoid paying capital gains taxes. Is this true? J.A.M., Pontiac, Ill.

Dear J.A.M.:

Capital gains tax cannot be avoided. I assume when you use the term "on contract" you are referring to The Internal Revenue Service's installment method of reporting profits on sale of property. Under these arrangements, the buyer agrees to pay the seller part of the sale price over a period of years after the year of sale, providing that the amount received by the seller in the year of the sale does not exceed 30 per cent of the selling price.

The income from this installment method is determined by the use of a gross profit per cent, which is the per cent that the gross profit to be realized is of the total contract price. This per cent of each payment collected on the sale (including the down payment) is a capital gain and must be included in gross income for the tax year in which it is received.

(You can get Mary Feeley's booklet, "Make Every Dollar Count," by sending $1 to her in care of The Post-Crescent.)

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said that James, a Wausau native, suffered a heart attack. He had complained of chest and arm pains recently, Kemps said. The rescue squad attempted unsuccessfully to revive him.

James, father of five, worked as a salesman for a Green Bay firm. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Muehl Funeral Home.

8-2 Badger Delegation Support

Rights Bill Opposed by Davis and Schaeberg

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — All members of the Wisconsin house delegation except two, Wednesday voted for the civil rights bill which was approved 250-171.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay, said he voted earlier with Republicans in an unsuccessful attempt to send the bill to a conference committee, but that he had voted for final passage because in the past he had voted for open housing in civil rights bills.

It is regrettable that the Democrats insisted on making open housing an issue in civil rights," Byrnes said. He also pointed out that the minority is proved yesterday and the origi-never served when rules are violated.

Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg, Burlington Republican, and Glen R. Davis, New Berlin Republican, voted against the measure, which will forbid discrimination in approximately 80 per cent of all housing offered for sale or rent when it becomes fully effective on Jan. 1, 1970.

Schadeberg and Davis pointed out that the bill contained many provisions on which no hearing had been held in the House and that the Senate-approved measure should have been sent to conference to iron out discrepancies between the bill and the original version.

Village Offices to Close Noon Friday

KIMBERLY — All village offices will close at noon Friday and remain closed until Monday, according to Mrs. Katherine Lochschmidt, village clerk.

As the house voted on the civil rights bill, Marines from Quantico, Va., patrolled the capitol grounds with their bayonets fixed. They are part of the 13,000 federal troops called in Friday to help control the riots and still remain in the city.

Marine Orders Night Out for Kindnesses

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Burlan Akins of the St. Louis suburb of Affton has been writing letters and sending gift packages to a lonely Marine in Vietnam.

The Marine responded with a $500 check and a letter urging Mrs. Akins, her daughter and a friend to have a night on the town on him.

Mrs. Akins said she has never met Cpl. Jon MacPamplin, 21, of Arkansas, but her son, Rocky, served with him at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

MacPamplin's letter began with something sounding like an order to his squad:

"Now listen, mom. This is what I want you to do. First off I want you and Peaches and Sugar Plum to go out and have one good time."

Peaches is her daughter Bobby Sue, 20, and Sugar Plum is Gayle Ballard, who also wrote him.

MacPamplin also asked Mrs. Akins to send 12 pairs of socks. "My squad is hard up for socks," he wrote.

Rocky Akins is now en route to Vietnam, too.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

ARE HOSPITALIZED PEOPLE BEING TREATED MORE SYMPATHETICALLY THESE DAYS? YES NO

Yes, there is a lot more love and sympathy in hospitals than there used to be. The fact, for example, that, from their first days after birth, children need love and attention, is becoming more generally recognized. As a result, says the World Health Organization, hospitals in which there are children are being run quite differently than before. Dr. Hilda S. Rollman Branch of U.C.L.A. declares that the need for companionship among all hospitalized patients may be greater than the need for food and warmth.

2. Man is a product of his culture!

True — False — True. Dr. Ruth Benedict observed of man, "From the moment of his birth the customs into which he is born shape his experience and behavior. By the time he can talk, he is a creature of his culture and, by the time he is grown and able to take part in its activities, its habits are his habits, its beliefs his beliefs, its impossibilities his impossibilities." The only way you can escape is to grow beyond your culture and to become at home in the whole wide world.

3. Is the inquiring mind uniquely human?

Yes — No — Yes. A famous English zoologist observes that young monkeys are curious about their surroundings, but that their

300,000 Tax Returns Still Unfiled in State

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says at least 300,000 federal income tax returns for 1967 have yet to be filed by Wisconsin residents before Monday's deadline.

Walter S. Stumpf, Wisconsin IRS director, said Wednesday that taxpayers who wait until the last minute are forced to be hasty, and become increasingly vulnerable to error.

Mistakes in addition and subtraction were made by nearly 4 million taxpayers last year, resulting in $208 million in underpayments, he said. Errors, he added, can mean delays of several months for persons entitled to refunds.

himself, and his fellow creatures. His questions lead him into not only new answers, but new questions as well. This is the cleverest survival trick of our species.

Wildcat Strike Forces AMC Work Cutback

Pay for Holiday Could Develop Into Fresh Issue

MILWAUKEE (AP)—American Motors Corp. says an unauthorized walkout which has forced it to reduce operations at its Kenosha plant until Monday was ended when about 300 Milwaukee workers returned to their jobs Wednesday.

Workers Return

The work stoppage which began Tuesday at the Milwaukee body plant curtailed production of Ambassador and Rebel models, and the firm told about 750 assembly line workers at its Kenosha division it would not have enough work for them today. The 750 assembly line employees, for whom an extended weekend holiday begins Friday, were told to stay home until Monday. An AMC spokesman said Wednesday night that most of 320 second-shift workers had returned to jobs in Milwaukee. Only 40 per cent of an estimated 2,800 first-shift workers were on the job Wednesday morning in Milwaukee. The walkout involved a protest over disciplinary action against employees. Ralph Daum, president of United Auto Workers Local 72 in Kenosha, said the company's order to assembly workers to stay home until Monday may create another issue. He said he understood the company "has raised the issue of not paying the wages" for the Friday holiday under a contract rule because there would be no work on the day prior to the holiday.

Sturgeon Bay Firm May Get Navy Contract

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Navy's announcement Wednesday that it has cancelled its solicitation for bids on nine ocean mine-sweepers and instead will solicit bids on 16, will pave the way for Peterson Builders of Sturgeon Bay to bid on the entire 16, according to an announcement by Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay.

Originally the British had submitted the third lowest bid on the non-cancelled contract for nine vessels. Two lower West Coast bidders have been eliminated as unqualified, the Navy told Byrnes. Peterson Builders was the fourth low bidder.

With the Navy's cancellation of many bids submitted by the

Hortonville Man Jailed 180 Days

James Dorschner, 20, route 1, Hortonville, was sentenced to a mandatory 180 days in jail Wednesday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving after his license was revoked.

State police arrested the youth on Outagamie County Trunk 00, near County Trunk A, about 9:30 a.m. today.

The long jail sentence was mandatory because of Dorschner's previous convictions for driving after revocation.

British, the Sturgeon Bay firm now appears by process of elimination to be the lowest bidder which is qualified to seek contract for the 16 ocean mine-sweepers.

Rest Plus Exercise Needed for Arthritis

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. (or your friends) might think, Dear Dr. Molner: I have arthritis in both knees, and for a while it was just awful. I cried every step I took. I am on my feet a lot. Does this do more damage? I am 65 and go out to work three or four hours twice a week. People tell me I should stay off my feet. Is that true? — Mrs. M.G.

Arthritis means that joints have become worn or damaged. Such joints need rest — but they also need daily movement. I do not mean strenuous exercise. I mean movement. If you take your friends' advice at face value and try to stay off your feet, the result probably will be increasing stiffness of the joints, and as they become stiffer they will be more painful when you do move them. But, as I said, they also need rest. The answer for you is to have some of both: some movement, some rest. Set aside several periods during the day when you can sit or lie down and take the strain off those painful knees. At the same time, also make it a point to move about every day to keep the joints as mobile as possible.

Your doctor can prescribe medication to make you more comfortable. Heat (hot bath, or other means of applying heat) also will make you more comfortable. If you are overweight, shedding some pounds will help. The above are some brief notes taken from my new booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which is now ready for distribution. It discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases, as well as outlining effective treatments and medications. Anyone wishing a copy can get one now by sending 35 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent. Ask for the booklet by full title or just ask for "the arthritis booklet."

Dear Dr. Molner: For a year now I have been troubled with vaginal trichomoniasis. The doctor has prescribed jellies and tablets. Every time I think it has cleared up, the itching starts again. What is the best treatment for this, and the cause? — Mrs. L.M.

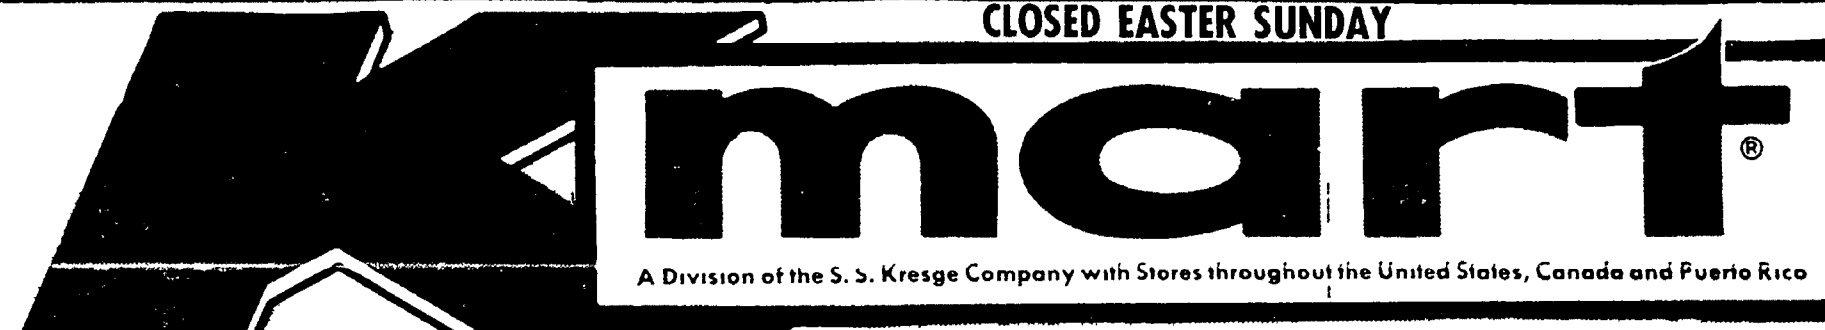

is treated at the same time. For reasons not known, the protozoan irritates women but usually does not bother men as much. Therefore, the husbands do not realize that they may be harboring the same infection. Wife gets it cleared up; then infection starts all over again, from the husband who doesn't know he ought to have been treated, too. An effective medication which can be taken by mouth is available for trichomoniasis. Sometimes two ten-day courses of treatment are necessary in stubborn cases. The medication is effective for both men and women. Dear Dr. Molner: Would taking lemon juice and a quarter teaspoonful of baking soda in a half glass of water every day be bad for the liver, bladder, or kidneys? — Mrs. J.C.

The sodium in the baking soda may be undesirable in some forms of liver or kidney disease. The lemon juice and water alone is not harmful. (Copyright, 1968)

Reliever Lowney Drives in Big Run With Sacrifice Fly

FREEDOM — Relief pitcher Mike Lowney won his own game with a sacrifice fly in the first extra inning — the eighth — as Freedom edged Kimberly, 6-5, Wednesday in a non-conference baseball game.

The Irish evened their record at 1-1. For the Papermakers, it was their second straight 1-run defeat.

In the bottom of the eighth, Dan Vandewettering doubled to center, was sacrificed to third by Dan Rickert's bunt and scored on Lowney's fly ball.

Lowney, who relieved Terry Muenster in the fifth, allowed two hits, struck out seven and walked none. He also drove in two second-inning runs with a single. Muenster allowed two hits in his four innings, while Ealking four and fanning four.

Kimberly broke loose for five runs in the second inning to

Astros Win, 5-4, on 'Aspro's' 3-Base Hit

Cards Post 2-1 Victory; Cubs Lose

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Aspromonte is an original Astro—the only player still left from the expansion pool that stocked Houston's National League team back in November, 1961.

He's lived through 568 losses in six seasons and he just wasn't prepared to start the new season with another setback.

So, he did something about it. It was "Aspro's" two-out triple in the bottom of the ninth inning that gave the Astros a 5-4 opening night victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

Elsewhere as the National League started its 93rd season, St. Louis' world champions pulled out a 2-1 victory over Atlanta, San Francisco pushed across three ninth inning runs and beat New York 5-4, Cincinnati battered Chicago 9-4 and Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

Called the Colts

Aspromonte, who's been with Houston so long he predates the Astrodome and goes back to the days when the Astros were called the Colts, climaxed a three-run rally in the ninth with his triple.

But he never would have had a chance to be a hero if rookie Ivan Murrell hadn't come through with a pinch single.

Maury Wills' two-run single had moved Pittsburgh into a 4-2 lead in the top of the ninth. But Joe Morgan opened the Astros' ninth with a single and Hal King walked.

Juan Pizarro relieved Jim Bunning, making his first appearance with the Pirates, and got the next two hitters. Then Murrell delivered a pinch single scoring Morgan and setting it up for Aspromonte.

"Just let it be said," the veteran infielder grinned afterwards, "that Aspromonte is SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Bob Littleton, a one-armed golfer, scored a hole-in-one Wednesday on the par 3, 135-yard 17th hole at the Elks Golf Course.

Littleton wound up with a 95 on the par 71 course. For the ace, he used a 7 iron.

For Littleton, 43, it was his first ace since taking up the sport in 1951. He lost his left arm in World War II.

Yastrzemski Hits 2 Home Runs as Bosox Win Opener

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

They yawned when Carl Yastrzemski hit his first home run of the 1968 season. But they could hardly believe the second one.

The first homer for the 1967 Triple Crown winner came in the seventh inning of Boston's 7-3 opening day victory over Detroit Wednesday. It was the routine kind for Carl; over the wall and into the seats.

But in the ninth, Yaz blasted one off the centerfield wall 420 feet away and while it bounced around in the outfield, he legged out an inside-the-park homer, the first one of his life.

"I never hit one before," said Yastrzemski. "But when I hit it, I thought it was gone."

In other American League openers, Minnesota beat Washington 2-0, Cleveland crushed Chicago 9-0, New York edged California 1-0 and Baltimore took Oakland 3-1.

Goes Distance

"We couldn't do much better than that the first day," said Red Sox Manager Dick Williams, who was especially pleased by the fact that Dick Ellsworth, acquired from Philadelphia during the winter, went the distance.

"I think Ellsworth and Ray Culp can make up for Jim Lonborg," who will miss part of the season because of his skiing injury. "We've got some good young arms on this staff. We can do it."

Vice President Hubert Humphrey watched happily as his Minnesota Twins beat Washington with Dean Chance hurling a four-hitter. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison hit homers for the Twins.

Sonny Siebert stopped the White Sox on just two hits while Duke Sims lead a lusty Indian hitting attack with two homers. Singles by Duane Josephson and Ken Boyer were the only hits off Siebert.

Mel Stottlemyre also turned in a fine pitching performance, setting down the Angels on four hits. The Yankees only had three themselves off George Brunet, but one of them was a homer by Frank Fernandez in the second inning.

Don Buford's two hits, one-run scored and run-saving fielding play highlighted the Orioles' victory. Brooks Robinson homered for the birds and Tom

76ers Square Playoff Series With 116-105 Victory Over Celtics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The Philadelphia 76ers are considered to have the best starting five in the National Basketball Association. But their bench strength was the big question if the 76ers were to win a second straight championship.

So what happened Wednesday night? The bench Matt Guokas, Billy Melchionni and Johnny Green helped spark the 76ers to a 116-105 victory over the Boston Celtics at Boston to even the best-of-7 Western Division final, playoff series at 1-1.

In Los Angeles, the Lakers came up with a big fourth quarter to down San Francisco 115-112 and take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Western Division final.

In American Basketball Association playoff action, the Pittsburgh Pipers nipped Minnesota 107-99 for a 2-1 edge in their best-of-7 series in the East final. New Orleans topped Dallas 110-107 to go up 2-1 in the West final.

Baseball 'Gate' Shows Slight Drop On Opening Day

The 10 opening games in baseball's major leagues drew a total of 267,125 fans Wednesday, a slight decline from the 272,995 a year ago.

Hollub Changes Mind, Returns To Coaching Job

R. H. Hein, Waukesha school superintendent, said Wednesday night the school board agreed to rehire Hollub, whose teams won two Suburban Conference titles during his 13 years at Waukesha.

Hollub resigned from the Waukesha staff March 23 to become assistant to the registrar at Oshkosh State.

"When I finally sat down and faced reality," he said, "I realized I was not ready to give up coaching."

Chamberlain Unanimous on NBA Star '5'

Baylor, Robertson, Lucas, Bing Other First Team Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia 76ers was the only unanimous choice in the National Basketball Association All-Star team announced Thursday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Chamberlain received a perfect score of 12.0 and is joined on the first squad by Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati and Dave Bing of Detroit.

Sportswriters and sportscasters voted for the team with each league city receiving one full vote.

Baylor was second in the balloting with a score of 11.084 followed by Robertson, 10.438; Bing, 8.547, and Lucas, 8.342.

Named to the second team were Willis Reed of New York 5.554; Jerry West of Los Angeles, 4.635; Hal Greer of Philadelphia, 4.610; Bill Russell of Boston, 3.579, and John Havlicek of Boston, 3.304.

Chamberlain had made the All-Star team six times previously, winding up on the second team twice. Robertson was voted to the first team for the ninth straight year while Baylor has made it nine of the past 10 seasons.

Lucas returns to the first team after a year's absence, and Bing, the NBA's scoring champion, is on it for the first time.

Players selected for the first time receive $500 each. Second-team players get $250 each.

Augusta Press Lounge Named for Bartlett

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The working press lounge at the Augusta National golf course was named the Charles Bartlett Lounge Wednesday in tribute to the late golf writer of the Chicago Tribune.

Bartlett, who died last Nov. 6, was one of the founders of the Golf Writers Association of America. He covered the first Masters in 1934 and most of them since. He covered all the major golf events for more than 30 years.

Hetzl finished with 36 points and Mullins had 23.

Coach Bill van Breda Kolf of the Lakers said, "Our speed and aggressiveness made the difference. We went to a three-guard offense and got better ball-handling and better foul shooters."

The Warriors' coach Bill Sharman said, "we played awfully well until the last six minutes but at the end we lost the boards and that hurt us. We let them play their game at the end, a scattered, fast-break type of offense."

and nine points, respectively. Chet Walker added 19 points. Wilt Chamberlain had 15 and Luke Jackson and Green had 11. In the balanced Philadelphia attack, John Havlicek tossed in 28 points for the Celtics.

The 76ers broke the game open with a 35-point second quarter and took a 67-60 half-time lead. Then with Philly leading 86-77 after three periods, Guokas reeled off seven straight points at the start of the final 12 minutes to wrap up the contest.

Alex Hannum, the 76ers coach said, "Guokas was fantastic. He came up with loose balls, he was making the plays and he was getting the ball to the basket."

Bench Did It

Player-Coach Bill Russell of the Celtics agreed. "Their bench did it. I thought Melchionni hurt us real bad. And Guokas, especially at the start of the fourth period. Green also had a great game."

Melchionni only played a total of 12 minutes while Guokas was in for 20 minutes as they gave starters Jones and Greer a breather.

The Lakers rallied from a 10-point deficit in the final quarter to go head 107-105 on Mel Counts' tip-in with :50 remaining and never trailed again.

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West topped the Lakers with 36 points each and it was West's three-point play that finally got Los Angeles even at 105-105 before Counts put them ahead to stay.

The Lakers held a 60-57 half-time edge but San Francisco stormed back on the shooting of Fred Hetzel and Jeff Mullins to go ahead 90-84 after three periods.

Veteran Pro Claude Harmon Records Back-to-Back Aces

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Claude Harmon, 51-year-old teaching pro at the Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y.,

The holes-in-one were the 14th and 15th for the veteran pro, who won the Masters in 1948. The first came on the 80-yard fourth hole.

As he walked to the next hole, Harmon facetiously remarked to Bob Jones III, son of the great Bob Jones:

"Has anybody ever made two holes-in-one in a row?"

"I don't know," replied the younger Jones, "but you've got some holes left."

"I'll see what I can do," Harmon replied.

He stepped up to the tee at the 100-yard fifth and with the same wedge hit the ball into the cup.

As he was led to the press lounge for an interview, Harmon quipped:

"This is the first time I've been in a press room in 20 years."

Filling One Pair of Shoes Is Something—How About 2?

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dave Johnson isn't expected to fill shortstop Mark Belanger's shoes, but it would be nice if he could fill his own.

Johnson gave a solemn demonstration Wednesday when he replaced Belanger, the slick fielder who is on National Guard duty because of recent civil disorders.

Johnson was shifted from his normal second base spot for Baltimore's American League opener against the Oakland Athletics.

Thrown off stride when his left shoe started to come off, Johnson retreated after missing first base and ran a potential second-inning double into a single.

In the fourth, Johnson ran out of the left shoe on the way to second with a run-scoring double.

"After that, I changed shoes," Johnson said, "but it really didn't matter. On my last time up, I struck out."

All-Star Game In Charlotte Still 'On'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — If no complications arise from Charlotte's curfew, the third annual North-South All Star basketball game is slated to begin at 8 p.m. today.

Twenty top players will appear. Northern forces will be led by Coach of the Year Guy Lewis of Houston, and the South will be tutored by West Virginia's Bucky Waters.

Charlotte was placed under a rigid curfew last week after racial violence erupted in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis, Tenn. City officials have given no indication when the curfew will be lifted, although most other North Carolina cities relieved restrictions Wednesday night.

Schinke Collects 4 Hits as Badgers Win Opener, 13-4

Tosses Out First Ball

Humphrey Substitutes For Johnson at Opener

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey hurled the opening pitch yesterday to begin the 1968 baseball season two days late as the nation and its capital city struggled to recover from racial violence.

Humphrey, an ardent Minnesota rooter, substituted for President Johnson as Washington met the Minnesota Twins in the traditional White House opener.

Humphrey lofted a soft throw that was caught by Senators' coach Nellie Fox, leaping in front of players standing near the first base line.

The right-hander's second toss was snared by Washington outfielder Hank Allen.

Humphrey shook hands with both managers, rookie boss Jim Lemon of the Senators and Carl Ermer of the Twins, in the dug-out before the game.

It was only the third time in the last 22 years that a president has missed the traditional opener.

The inaugural game was delayed two days as the nation mourned slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Combat-clad troops patrolled outside D.C. Stadium.

Contingents of paratroopers and national guardsmen filed into the stadium on passes to fill seats left empty by thousands of ticketholders who did not come.

The attendance was expected to be 45,016 but did not appear to be more than 26,000.

Gray skies threatened show-ers.

Both Senators shortstop Ed Brinkman and pitcher Frank

Bertaina missed the game after being called to active duty with the National Guard as a result of the racial violence that rocked Washington and other cities.

Propson Fires No-Hitter but Loses, 1-0

BRILLION — Stockbridge's Dick Propson fired a no-hitter against the Brillion Lions Wednesday afternoon but lost, 1-0, on an unearned run.

Propson struck out 14 hitters along the way but also gave up eight walks. It was his wildness, plus some faulty fielding, that enabled Brillion to score its only run in the first inning.

The Lions' Bill Grassell led off the game with a base on balls, moved to second on an error, then stole third as part of a successful double-steal.

He raced home with one out, when the Indians' catcher allowed a passed ball.

Stockbridge, limited to three singles by Russ Hansen, threatened on three occasions but couldn't score. One runner was left stranded at third base and two more at second.

Hansen fanned six and walked two in going the route.

Magazine Reveals Russian Scandal in Horse Racing

MOSCOW (AP) — A Russian literary magazine, in a rare disclosure of underworld life here, told Wednesday of a horse race fixing scandal in the Soviet Union.

Literaturnaya Gazeta, which usually devotes its pages to more intellectual happenings, reported how a group of bettors could put $55 on a supposedly hopeless combination of long shots and win $3,333.

The way the magazine pictured it, the fixers resembled the American Broadway musical of 15 years ago, "Guys and Dolls," in which such characters as Rusty Charlie and Benny Southstreet romped.

The Russian group, according to the article, contained a former burglar nicknamed Intelligent and furniture craftsman known as The Souze who hung out at a seedy cafe called Ravestniki (The Contemporaries).

Some of the gang hired youths to place bets and bring them

Nearly Blows Shutout Anti-Spit Rule Gives Stottlemyre Trouble

BY JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The new anti-spit rule almost made Mel Stottlemyre blow his cool in the New York Yankees' opener with the California Angels.

Stot was working on a 1-0 shutout in the eighth. Roger Repoz was on first with one out and Jay Johnstone, a pinch hitter, was up.

After throwing a strike to Johnstone, the Yankee pitcher walked off the mound and went to the mouth with his fingers. The first base umpire, Al Salerno, called an automatic ball under the new anti-spit rule.

Stottlemyre started to argue. Manager Ralph Houk rushed out of the dugout and there was a merry scene for a couple of minutes. The Yanks announced they were finishing the game under protest. It didn't matter because they won 1-0.

Back and Forth

"The rule says you can go to your mouth on the grass," said Houk. "Salerno claimed Mel went to his mouth while on the ground (skinned area around mound). Mel did it deliberately. They've got things so mixed up by changing this rule back and forth nobody knows what is going on."

Actually, the rule says a pitcher can not go to his mouth within an area included in an 18-foot circle around the mound.

"It shook me up for a minute," said Stottlemyre, who went to 3-1 on Johnstone before he got him out. "Mickey (Mandle) came over to me and said, 'Forget it.' Otherwise I might have blown right there. I was completely disgusted. I walked off the mound just to go to my mouth because I thought it was

Chisox Fans Boo Ward After Miserable Day in Outfield

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox new power movement hit an opening day short circuit. But Sox Manager Eddie Stanky shrugged off a two-hit shutout by Cleveland's Sonny Siebert.

Stanky's remodeled array of his eight best hitters fell 9-0 Wednesday before a dismal inaugural crowd of 7,756 which saw an extra-base Indian uprising against starter Joe Horlen and three Sox firemen.

The quartet was raked for three homers, three triples and three doubles in a 13-hit Cleveland attack.

"Siebert simply pitched a fine, strong game and we got hammered," said Stanky, whose power trio of ex-New York Met Tommy Davis, Pete Ward and Ken Boyer produced one futile single in a total of 10 trips. Boyer got one of the two singles off 30-year-old Siebert.

Cleanup hitter Ward, switched from third base, had his troubles patrolling right field where

Citizens COG Advisory Group Will be Formed

KAUKAUNA — A citizens policy advisory committee will be established for the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG), it was decided Wednesday.

COG officials voted to present two or three names from each COG community from which 15 would be selected by Laurel Heaney, chairman, and the policy committee.

Final approval must come from COG.

The group recently was suggested as a sounding board for COG programs and to bring more citizen views into the regional planning group's considerations.

The policy committee, which recommended the idea, said the group should be limited to 15 to allow representation of the 13 COG communities and still avoid large, ineffective organization.

Four-Month Trial Approved Meter Maids to Use Three-Wheel Cycles

Appleton's meter maids are going to become mobile.

The city council's public safety committee was unanimous Tuesday in recommending they be assigned three-wheel cycles.

The meter maids, who now check metered areas on foot, also will enforce time parking restrictions.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), committee chairman and council president, said the new system would be tried out on a four-month basis.

It is the second time the committee has recommended the action. However, at the last council meeting Ald. Arthur Hoolihan (11th) wanted the matter referred back to committee for study.

Hoolihan claimed members of the Appleton Policemen's Protective Association were opposed to having meter maids check both meters and time parking areas.

"You watch and see," Hoolihan said, "the meter maids will be wanting police powers and policeman's pay, too."

Sometime ago Hoolihan attempted to have the five meter maids in the police department assigned to the parking meter department, but the proposal was killed by the council.

Releases Policemen

By motorizing the female meter checkers, Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said it will enable the department to take two regular policemen off parking enforcement detail and assign them to police duties.

The cycles — nicknamed "Dilly Wagons" — also would be available for night police patrols.

"I have all the confidence in the world the new system will work out," Ayers commented. "The only way to prove it is by having the trial period."

In other action, the committee agreed with City Planner Walter Rasmussen that further safety measures will have to be taken at the Meade and Commercial Street intersection, scene of a recent fatality. It was claimed that angle parking adds to the vision problem.

5 Oscars Go to Film 'In Heat of the Night'

Best Movie of Year Also Has Best Actor,
Rod Steiger, in Role of Southern Sheriff

BY GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—“In the Heat of the Night” won five Oscars, including best picture acclaim and best-actor honors for Rod Steiger, at the 40th Academy Awards ceremony.

Katharine Hepburn, 58, was named 1967's best motion picture actress as a perplexed mother whose daughter plans to marry a Negro in “Guess Who's Coming to Dinner.”

The accolades of movieland were scattered, and there were a few surprises Wednesday night. Considered hotter contenders than Hepburn were Fay Dunaway of the explosive “Bonnie and Clyde” and Anne Bancroft, the neurotic who seduces a youth half her age in “The Graduate.”

Honored by Poitier Steiger was acclaimed by Sidney Poitier, the boyfriend taken home to “Dinner” and the Negro costar of Steiger in “Heat” this way: “He's probably the greatest actor in the world.”

In accepting his award, Steiger thanked Poitier for giving him understanding of racial prejudice.

Both “In the Heat of the Night” and “Guess Who's Coming to Dinner” dealt with the racial problem.

Director Nichols
Mike Nichols, 37, nominated a year ago for “Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?” won this time among directors for his second film, “The Graduate.” Supporting honors went to George Kennedy, the chain gang convict of “Cool Hand Luke” and to Broadway's Estelle Parsons in “Bonnie and Clyde,” her second movie and first important film role.

Steiger, the southern sheriff who reluctantly lets Poitier, a Negro detective from Philadelphia, help him solve a crime, nosed out two other also favored nominees: Dustin Hoffman as a confused youth in “The Graduate” and Warren Beatty as the ruthless bank robber Clyde Barrow in “Bonnie and Clyde.”

Bob Hope There
The glittering motion picture Academy Awards, televised and broadcast through the United States and Canada, were presided over for the 14th time by Bob Hope. His quips didn't seem quite up to par even though some were in familiar vein—“Welcome to the Academy Awards, or, as it's known at my house, passover.”

The slightly downbeat atmosphere may have resulted, like the awards' two day postponement, from the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Later accepting the Gene Hersholt Humanitarian Award, Gregory Peck, academy president, suggested that viewers send contributions to the Martin Luther King Jr. fund in Atlanta.

Miss Hepburn in France
Director George Cukor accepted the best actress award for Miss Hepburn, the only winner not present. She is now making a film in France. The heavy-set Steiger, 42, nominated last year for “The Pawnbroker” and in 1954 for “On the Waterfront,” kissed presenter Audrey Hepburn's hand and bowed to the audience in Santa Monica civic auditorium.

“I find it unbelievable, overwhelming,” he said of the Oscar. He thanked Poitier “for the pleasure of his friendship . . . which enabled me to enhance my performance. And we shall overcome.”

The Coveted Golden Oscars of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences went to these three first-time winners at the 40th annual ceremonies Wednesday night in Santa Monica, Calif. From the left, George Kennedy was named best supporting actor of the year for his role in “Cool Hand Luke”; Estelle Parsons, best supporting actress, “Bonnie and Clyde”; Rod Steiger, best actor of the year for his portrayal of the gruff Southern Sheriff in the award movie, “In the Heat of the Night.” Actress Katharine Hepburn, unable to attend the Oscar event because she was making a film in France, was named best actress for her role as the mother in “Guess Who's Coming to Dinner.” (AP Wirephotos)

Let's Take A Look at Ernie Kovacs

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 — Channel 11 — Everything in The Comedy of Ernie Kovacs is good, including the commercials which the brilliant humorist created himself. It has often been said that the man was far ahead of his time and the proof is here. His original cigar company sponsor brings back many of the marvelously zany Kovacs creations including the Nairobi Trio, who look surprisingly like some real rock groups of today; the melodic poetry of Percy Dovetonsils, and several of Ernie's famed pantomimes with sound effects. A thoroughly enjoyable hour until the ending when a sense of loss becomes quite apparent. (C)

6-30-7-30 — Channel 5 — Alan King hosts a humor special titled Comedy Is King which is a collection of satiric sketches broken up by the singing of guests Liza Minnelli and Connie Stevens. Other guests include Linda Lavin, Charlie Callas and Kenneth Mars who appear in skits on Medicare; a bit on meditation with Alan as the guru; Charlie and Kenny falling over each other in a demonstration of karajitsu, clad in ancient Japanese armor; and Alan as sheriff Hanibal Honkie and also sergeant at arms for a friendly Ku Klux Klan neighborhood. In this last, Liza leads a healthy production number to “Is There A Klavern In Your Town?” (C)

6-30-8 — Channels 2-7 — Cimarron Strip begins its rerun season with its premiere episode starring John Saxon as The Screamer, a worthless character who goes on big binges and breaks up the town plus one or two townspeople. (C)

7-7-30 — Channels 11-9 — Sister Bertille reaches new heights on The Flying Nun but they do nothing to elevate Carlos' spirits. Sister, along with Carlos and a girl named April, find themselves stranded on a small island. (C)

7-30-8 — Channels 11-9 — Marion Lorne as Aunt Clara brightens Bewitched. She comes for a visit, upset because her boy friend Ocky has once again run off with “one of those empty-headed young witches.” Her timing coincides with a dinner Samantha is having for a potential Japanese client, and what do you know? (C)

8-8-30 — Channels 11-9 — Ted Bessell returns to That Girl from a week-long hunting trip with a week-long growth of beard. He thinks it's great and Marlo Thomas thinks it has changed a clean cut face into a dirty broom. (C)

8-30-9 — Channel 5 — Dragnet 1968 has an interesting episode showing how a departmental inquiry is ordered every time a police officer shoots anyone. Sgt. Friday is on the carpet after he gunned down a young

Elvis Presley, Actor, Changing His Image

May be Inviting New Blasts From Critics; He Calls It 'Maturing'

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is Elvis Presley asking for more criticism?

When the Memphis rock 'n' roll pioneer burst upon the scene 12 years ago, girls shrieked and swooned—and some editorials and sermons denounced his hip gyrations as “lewd and obscene.” Camera-men were told to focus above his waist.

Presley explained: “When I sing, I just start jumping.” But that image of a swinging “Elvis the Pelvis” gradually faded into one of a clean-cut, clean-living youth. Helping the transition were Army service, religious recordings including his million-seller album “How Great Thou Art” and, perhaps paradoxically, his movies.

Says a Presley director: “He has never made a dirty picture.” An MGM spokesman has said: “They never go to bed in a Presley picture.”

No Longer True
But now, in his two latest films, they DO go to bed.

In “Stay Away, Joe,” dialogue implies that Joan Blondell, 58, has been the older-woman-in-his-life. She breaks up an on-the-bed romp—clothed— involving Elvis and pretty teenager Quentin Dean.

In “Live a Little, Love a Little,” now being filmed, he has several “dammit” and a “how-the-hell” or two in his dialogue. He arises from a bed recently shared, the plot makes clear, with shapely Michele Carey.

Isn't all this inviting new blasts from the Far Righteous? Elvis chuckled. “I dunno,” he said. “I was wondering about that, too.” Still he claimed: “I don't think I'm changing my image. I think you have to mature a little bit.”

Still Popular
The studio production department forbids long interviews with the millionaire singer-actor because he's in 90 per cent of the scenes. From associates you seek clues to the continuing popularity that has brought phonograph-records sales of more than 100 million copies and stardom in, to date, 28 movies.

Actor Winds Up Tipsy After Each Performance

COVENTRY, England (AP) — The role calls for a henpecked husband who drowns his woes in beer, and producer Roger Redfarn ruled out cold tea as a substitute for the real thing. So 35-year-old actor Peter Needham guzzles seven pints of brew at each performance of “Saturday Night at The Crown.” On Saturday, when there is a matinee also, he has to put away 14 pints.

“I drink wine myself,” said Needham. “All those pints of beer made me tipsy on stage, but it was authentic, I suppose.”

Legislators Hear End of Marquette Medical School

MADISON (AP) — The Marquette School of Medicine, Inc., may have to close if it does not receive state financial support, Milwaukee County Executive John Doyno said Tuesday.

Doyno told the Legislature's Joint Finance Committee that closing of the school would be a "disaster."

"This is a critical situation and this could happen," he said. Doyno testified at a committee hearing on the Governor's Task Force on Medical Education.

The task force has issued a report recommending that the University of Wisconsin and Marquette medical schools be expanded, and that a new medical school be established at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

The task force has stopped short of recommending state funds for Marquette expansion. It contends the question is a matter of public policy which must be resolved by the Legislature. The Marquette school was legally severed from Marquette University last year.

Roemer Wants Mayor to Work On Budgeting

Suggestion Made at Informal Meeting Would Ban Walkouts

Suggestions were made at the informal city council meeting Wednesday that the mayor be more directly involved in submitting annual budgets and that aldermen be denied the right to abstain by walking out of council meetings.

The session was the annual rehashing of department and committee functions, and council rules. Mayor George Buckley presided, as aldermen and department heads went down the existing list of functions and rules. Proposals will be considered at the reorganizational meeting Tuesday night.

Following the two-hour session, Clerk Eldon Broehm swore

Heffernan Lauds Keller '...Administered Justice Firmly'

Retired Judge Gustave J. Keller "has been where the action is."

So have other criminal and traffic court judges who served and are serving during the "revolution in the field of criminal law," State Supreme Court Justice Nathan Heffernan said at a testimonial dinner for Keller Wednesday night.

Some 120 attorneys, judges, clergymen, Kiwanians, and their wives were at the dinner, sponsored by the Outagamie County Bar Association, at the Conway Motor Inn.

In talking of the revolution in the field of criminal law, Heffernan pointed to the controversial Escobedo and Miranda cases, both of which had major effects on the concept of law and justice in the United States.

Paid Tribute

Heffernan was one of several men who paid tribute to the former magistrate of Outagamie County Court Branch 2. Keller retired March 31 when he reached the mandatory retirement age of 70. He was succeeded by former Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

"...he administered justice firmly, but fairly and impartially," Heffernan said of Keller. Noting that there had been few appeals from his court, Heffernan explained "this is a tribute to the fine work he has done."

Heffernan was introduced by

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell, who was master of ceremonies, and who remarked of Keller, "his retirement evokes sentiments of joy and sadness from all of us."

Five Guideposts

Parnell cited five "guideposts" of character which he said Keller has met. They are, Parnell said, his relation to his God, country, family, community, and the effective handling of his office.

Others who cited Keller for his achievements were William Solberg of Appleton, governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District of Kiwanis International; Appleton attorney Al Bradford, who said he "grew up" with Keller; and the Rev. Patrick McMahon, pastor at St. Thomas More Catholic Church.

Solberg cited Keller for his history of community service, much of which was in the capacity of a Kiwanis officer. Keller was district Kiwanis governor in 1956. Solberg alluded to Keller as "Mr. Kiwanis."

Recognition Plaque

Stanley Chmiel, president of the county bar association, presented Keller with a plaque in recognition for his service to the community "as a judge, a christian, and a man."

Keller, in closing remarks, said that court branches 2 and 3 (Juvenile Court, presided over by Judge Raymond Dohr) were

Continuing Student Transfers

Parochial-Public Shifting Strains School Facilities

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — Only one of five Fox Cities area students will be enrolled in parochial schools in 1975, down nearly 50 per cent from 1964, if present student transfer trends continue.

Whether the present move away from church-supported institutions continues at the same pace, and indications are that it will, the Fox Valley region is "on the brink of a serious problem."

This was revealed in a study presented at the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) meeting Wednesday by Gregory Kittleson, COG associate planner, who headed the study of the parochial-public enrollment trends.

Kittleson, in a 21-page report, said the Fox Valley region "is experiencing a parochial to public transfer trend which is resulting in a measurable and significant impact on the public school systems."

Money Problem

It basically boils down to money, Kittleson said of the parochial schools' student losses. He added that ideological reasons were not predicted in the purely objective survey.

The COG study, the first of its magnitude in the state, was stimulated by concern of educators and public officials in the Fox Valley and across the state. The expected level-off in public school enrollment with the end of the baby boom era in 1964 failed to develop, and school taxes continued to soar to new heights.

The reason became clearer last year when it was learned state estimates of parochial to public transfers were several thousand students low.

Statewide, parochial enrollment have dipped from 272,519 in 1964 to 251,020 in 1967. This included an 8 per cent decline over the last two years.

6 Per Cent

Although COG communities' parochial decline since 1964 was 6 per cent, it becomes a serious concern in this heavily populated parochial area. The region's decline also indicates more consistency over the past four years than the state drop, which became acute only the past two years.

In any case, the decline is steadily reducing the percentage of students being educated by parochial schools. Conversely, the student pressure on the public schools is increasing, bringing new demands for facilities and personnel.

Based on the present decline, Kittleson said, there appear to be two alternatives — strengthen public schools' capabilities or strengthen and aid the parochial systems to slow the trend, enabling public systems to prepare for the migration.

The first alternative "would entail either increased local school taxes or increased state and federal aids to public systems, or both," the report said.

Similar Demands

The second alternative would require similar economic demands but would further entail constitutional changes on the state and federal levels to allow aiding parochial schools, Kittleson

April Date Suggested Resource Chief Wants Public Hearing on Winnebago Pipeline

State Division of Resource Development officials have suggested a public meeting in Appleton to hear further details of the city's plans for a pipeline to tap Lake Winnebago.

Freeman Holmer, DRD administrator, said in a letter to Mayor George Buckley that he specifically would like to hear about the pipelines which were not incorporated in the hearing in Madison July 11, 1967.

He asked the meeting be in city council chambers at 1 p.m. April 18.

Buckley wrote Holmer early in April indicating as far as he was concerned "there will be no further informational hearings" on Appleton's pending municipal water project.

Best Solution

He said the project has been "thoroughly scrutinized and approved by experts as the best immediate solution to Appleton's urgent water problem."

In a letter to Buckley March 18, Holmer suggested another hearing on the pipeline and filtration plant addition plans. He said there were many Appleton residents and others in the pipeline vicinity who were concerned.

Buckley said it was his personal opinion now that all necessary hearings have been had and objections aired, and other city officials "have indicated they have run the gamut" and are concentrating on preparations. Buckley asked the city planner, attorney and public works director for their opinions.

In his letter Wednesday Holmer said the DRD "has a concern for the whole range of water resource management and planning," including lake levels, stream flows, water supply, pollution, fish and aquatic life, navigation, and related matters.

Public Meeting

For this reason, he proposed the hearing, he said.

Holmer said he understood the U. S. Corps of Engineers would like to have one or more representatives present with questions on the permit application before them.

Transformer Cause of Fire In Shoe Store Smoke Compounds Extensive Damage To Merchandise

A faulty electrical transformer in a display case was listed as the tentative cause of a blaze that resulted in extensive damage to Kinney Shoe Store, 104 E. College Ave., late Wednesday night.

Appleton firemen, who were called by a passerby about 11:50 p.m., said they found flames in the front portion of the store when they arrived. Although they extinguished the flames shortly after they arrived, there was considerable smoke damage throughout the shoe store.

Store officials had not estimated damage as of late this morning, but said it would be extensive because of the large amount of merchandise affected by the smoke. The store was closed today. There also was smoke damage in Grace's apparel shop, at 100 E. College Ave., just to the east of Kinney's.

Smoke Ejectors

Firemen were at Grace's with smoke ejectors this morning. The fire started in a showcase just inside the front door at Kinney's. A large section of the case, which contained purses and leather goods accessories, was burned as was the east wall and ceiling of the store.

Firemen were told that electrical repairs had been made recently in the area where the fire broke out.

Firemen, who were at the scene about an hour, had to break the front door glass to gain entry. Pvt. Gerald Felauer, an Appleton fireman, suffered a cut left knee while fighting the fire.

New Charges Brought Against Appleton Man After His Jail Release

A rural Appleton man who was released from jail at 1:20 p.m. Wednesday was back in jail the same night after he allegedly came home drunk and caused a disturbance.

Louis Lastofka, 36, route 3, pleaded innocent this morning to charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct. Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr set trial for April 17 and ordered $150 bond.

Lastofka's wife, Elaine, who brought the complaint, said her husband came home late in the afternoon, then left, and returned about 9:30 p.m. She said he broke a window and a door in the forcing his way into the home.

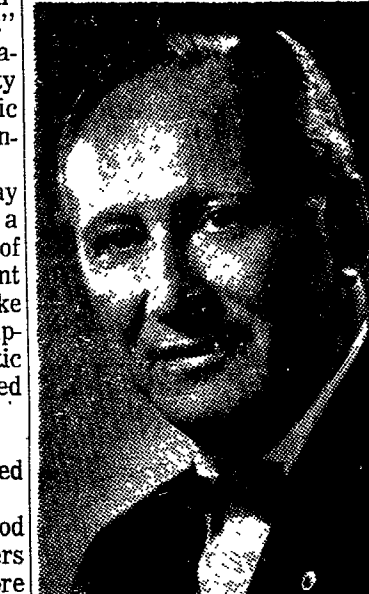

Lastofka, father of three, was sentenced to 30 days in jail March 18 after he was found guilty of a battery charge and brought in connection with beating his wife. He was released from jail Wednesday with "good time credit."

Kimberly Youth Struck by Car, Fractures Skull

KIMBERLY — Paul Van Boogard, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Boogard, 261 S. Willow St., suffered a skull fracture and head laceration when the bicycle he was driving west on E. Second Street was struck by a car about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Gregory Urban, 17, route 1, Menasha, driver of the car which also was traveling west, told police he was going too fast to avoid striking the cyclist. The youth was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, in Larry's Ambulance.

Urban was cited for traveling at speeds not reasonable or prudent. The car skidded 110 feet before the mishap and then continued on to a terrace on the opposite side of the road.

Jake Van Leur last weekend was installed as exalted ruler of Appleton Elks Lodge No. 337 during a public installation at the Elks Club.

Robert Danbeck, manager of Kinney Shoe Store, 104 E. College Ave., surveys the extensive damage resulting from a fire in the store late Wednesday night. Purses, shown here, were among the items damaged in the blaze

One-Way Streets Win Neenah Okay

Interim Traffic Plan Approved For Downtown; Parking Same

NEENAH — A network of one-way streets for Neenah is on its way.

If things go according to schedule, motorists traveling through the downtown area on May 15 will have to keep their eyes peeled on traffic signs.

The council, meeting in an informal session Wednesday evening, pared only one item from the interim traffic plan as prepared by the redevelopment authority. The voice vote was unanimous.

N. Commercial Parking

Parking spaces will remain on the east side of N. Commercial Street to accommodate customers at several locations, principally, Hewitt Machine Co. and A. H. Angermeyer Co.

When the aldermen give their official okay next Tuesday, the street pattern in Neenah will be changed to include:

- One-way westbound traffic on Wisconsin, between Walnut and Church.
- One-way eastbound traffic on Columbian, from Church to Oak.
- One-way northbound traffic on Walnut, from Columbian to Wisconsin.
- One-way southbound traffic on Church, from Wisconsin to Columbian.
- Two westbound lanes and one eastbound on Wisconsin and Main, from Church to Torrey.
- Two eastbound lanes and one westbound on Torrey and Smith to its loop connection at Columbian and Church.

Traffic Movement

The on-street parking arrangement will also be changed to allow for a greater movement of traffic while the "stop-gap" pattern is in effect.

The city will restrict parking on Torrey, Smith and Columbian, from Main to Church, to the northerly and easterly sides. It will be banned on the east side of Church, from Columbian to Wisconsin.

The RACON recommendation to remove all parking on Commercial, from Franklin to Water Street, was the only major objection the aldermen had to the interim traffic plan.

Both Hewitt Machine and Angermeyer protested the removal of parking stalls in front of their buildings, saying it would be a hardship and could force them to move their operations.

East Side Parking

The council backed the no parking proposal on the rest of Commercial Street but felt the stalls on the east side of N. Commercial should remain.

New Mercury Vapor Street Lamps are going up in Kimberly, replacing old incandescent lamps which had been strung over street intersections. Inspecting the new street lights are Alvin Fulcer, left, Kimberly village president, and Gene Hietpas, director of public works. The new lights are being installed as part of a three-year plan by Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. to upgrade lighting throughout the village.

Judge Keller Claims Public Rights Hurt by Decisions

NEENAH — While the rights of persons charged with crimes are protected, if not broadened, by recent decisions of the United States and Wisconsin supreme courts and the state legislature, the right of the public to be free from harm is being lost sight of.

That was the opinion of Judge Gustave Keller as he spoke Wednesday noon to the Kiwanis Club. Judge Keller recently retired from the bench in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Judge Keller took off after drunken drivers. Before January passage of the "safety package", he said, persons charged with drunken driving were detained by the police to sober up for at least eight hours. The time limit has been reduced to four hours and the driver can be released even earlier at the personal request of his spouse or lawyer.

Judge Keller said it is possible for a person to drive away from custody while still under the influence of alcohol and to remain a "continued and high hazard on the highway."

Judge Keller said that in juvenile matters he suspects that laws prohibiting publicity of a young offender's name or his parents' names work against the public interest, especially with repeaters.

"We have entirely too many parents who don't know or don't care what their children do," the judge said. That is, he added, until a juvenile judge waives the case into criminal court where the matter becomes public record and subject to newspaper publicity.

Judge Keller held up "honesty and justice" as the central purpose for the existence of courts and he criticized certain lawyers "who sometimes allow their zeal for their clients' rights" to obscure that purpose.

And he continued, "Although I cannot prove it, I am firmly convinced that there is a crime ring in our country and our area, that pools its loot money" to hire the services of lawyers.

Payment Unsettled in Paving Twin City Divider Street

NEENAH — Sanford Street, the industrial path dividing the Twin Cities, will probably be paved this summer. But the question remains: who will pay the bill?

The public works committee battled with assessment figures Wednesday evening on the project which will be shared by both Neenah and Menasha.

The cost of installing a 40-foot concrete pavement some 620 feet on Sanford amounts to about $10,300. A storm sewer relocation would add $4,000 to the project.

Menasha has already had a public hearing on the project and has established an assessment rate of $11.01 per foot for the curb and gutter and pavement.

However, Wayne Bryan, public works director, told aldermen the cost would run about $16.44 per foot for the paving. Since the area is zoned industrial, the assessment schedule calls for 100 per cent of the costs.

The councilmen felt the same rates should be charged by Neenah as were charged by Menasha. But they questioned having the city pick up the extra expense.

They generally agreed the Chicago and Northwestern Railway and the Wisconsin Paper Group were the chief beneficiaries of any paving project but wondered whether they could be billed for the major share of the project.

Program's First Stage Street Lighting in Kimberly Is Updated

KIMBERLY — New mercury vapor street lights are being installed along Maes Street this week in the first stage of a three-year program to upgrade lighting throughout the village.

"The new lights make our community look more alive and progressive," Al Fulcer, village president, stated as he surveyed the area. "This project should help the village attract new business and industry."

He said the new lights, which give 7½ times more light than the old incandescent fixtures, "will make our streets safer for nighttime drivers as well as pedestrians. Safety was also the prime consideration when the village board decided to put 18 lights in Sunset Park as part of this program."

Quo Vadis? Threatened As Unsafe

NEENAH — "We're going to ask that minimum safety requirements be met" for the "World Quo Vadis" teen coffee house scheduled to open in the former fire department headquarters.

That statement was given to the News-Record this morning by Carl LaBelle, local supervisor of the Industrial Safety and Buildings Division, State Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations.

LaBelle said that his office will recommend "minor changes and safety precautions" to the city council before giving its okay to the coffee house opening.

Car Wash Change

Car washes have been scheduled by the young people for Saturday in order to raise money for their project. The car washes, at 99 cents per car, will be located at the Schmidt Oil Co. station, 521 S. Commercial St., and Sommer's Enco Station, 501 S. Commercial St. The youths will ply the soap, water and rags at the two nearby locations from 10 a.m. to p.m.

The recommended alterations will include enclosing the boiler room within a fire wall. All paints and solvents being stored on the premises by the city will have to be removed.

LaBelle said the World Quo Vadis space will comply with minimum ventilation requirements without mechanical changes if the present doors and windows are maintained.

The number of exits available now comply with requirements, he said. But his office will suggest to the council that the doors be rehung to open outwards and be fitted with required hardware. Another illuminated exit light would also be needed, he said.

LaBelle said that his recommendations would call for "a minimal correction" rather than bringing the facilities up to ideal safety standards. One estimate calls for an expenditure of $1,000.

The council approved Feb. 7 a report from its health and welfare committee that okayed the teen project.

Dayan Released From Hospital

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, leaning on the arm of an aide and smiling, returned home Wednesday after spending three weeks in a hospital recovering from injuries suffered in a landslide at an archeological dig.

Well-wishers waiting outside Dayan's home in suburban Tel Aviv shouted "mazal tov"—good luck—when he arrived in an inconspicuous army pickup truck.

The patch-eyed war hero was expected to return to a normal work schedule next week. He suffered a cracked vertebra and two broken ribs March 20 while digging for relics near Tel Aviv.

Rename Watts to Honor King, Leader Suggests

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Negro leader says Watts, scene of 1965 riots, should be renamed in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

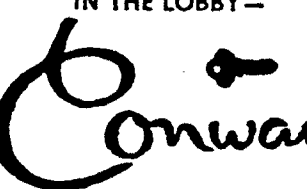

Ben Peery, president of the Watts Community Symphony Association, said the south-central Los Angeles district is known elsewhere as "a place of disorder and violence—everything Dr. King was opposed to."

about fashion...

Fashion is mainly a feeling for looking your best at all times. It's a talent some men have in larger measure than others, but all can cultivate it.

It requires some knowledge, some care, some pride, some intuition, some horse sense, some concern about how one should look to others.

It can be developed by talking to salespeople, by visiting stores, by looking into showrooms, by questioning tailors, by experimenting with your wardrobe, by shopping, buying and discarding. By trial and error.

But there's an easier way. Expose yourself to a full-length mirror and a visit to W. A. Close, the fashion shop for Men, Young Men and Younger Men.

Roemer Wants Mayor to Work On Budgeting

Mayor Involved

During the discussion, Ald. Robert Roemer (8th), a former mayor, suggested the mayor should submit the budget to department heads before bringing it before the council. In the past, the finance committee worked with department heads to prepare budgets.

Roemer said he favored this because the mayor is now a four-year post and should be more involved in this process.

Buckley made no comment.

Aldermen favored removing Rule 9 the phrase "Refusal to vote (unless excused) or". This refusal, generally accomplished by an alderman walking out of a council meeting when an issue came up for vote, has been considered an "aye" vote.

No Walkout

The suggestion was aldermen be allowed to leave only by permission of the mayor or city council. Aldermen can vote aye, nay or present (considered an aye vote).

Aldermen also felt that an alderman should attend committee meetings which are considering proposals the alderman had asked be referred back. It was felt aldermen asking a referral should either attend the meeting, or present in writing, his reason for asking the referral.

This, aldermen said, would allow the committee to direct its attentions to those portions of the proposal opposed.

The council also proposed the chairman of the Commerce and Industrial Development Committee be included on the board of public works. It was also felt a definition of the committee duties be included in the rules.

Welfare Committee

This committee was set up to acquire industrial sites and has done much of the groundwork for these projects up to this time.

Another proposal was that the welfare director and city attorney be required to attend welfare and ordinance committee meetings. This committee rules the welfare department and also considers all ordinances recommended for adoption.

One alderman suggested the Appleton supervisors on the Outagamie County Board meet informally three or four times a year with the city council to discuss mutual problems. However, other aldermen felt this not desirable since there was no machinery to make proposals stick.

Kaukauna Pair Hospitalized After 2-Car Crash

A Kaukauna couple was hospitalized this morning following a two-car accident at State 55 and Outagamie County Trunks C and VV, three miles north of Seymour.

Taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital about 9:30 a.m. by Muehl's Ambulance of Seymour were Peter Melchoirs, 69, 500 W. Sixth St., and his wife, Helen, both of whom suffered side and leg injuries. Loren Marks, 25, route 1, Black Creek, driver of the second car, suffered a head injury, but was not hospitalized.

County police said that Mrs. Melchoirs was northbound on 55 and the Marks car was eastbound, from 55 onto County Trunk VV, and did not stop for an arterial.

Police said that both cars were demolished.

City Offered Industrial Land

An Appleton realtor has offered to sell the city 101 acres of land on the north side of the Appleton industrial park, which is at the old Outagamie County Airport site.

Otto Bytof said in a letter to Mayor George Buckley that he would sell the land — which is the Theresa Bissing property — for $3,000 per acre. The land is north of County Trunk OO.

The offer will be referred to the Commerce and Industrial Development Committee when it is presented at the city council meeting Wednesday.

Convertible Top Is Slashed by Vandals

George Leitch, 119 E. Harrison St., reported to Appleton police early today that vandals slashed the top of his 1965 convertible while it was parked in the 100 block of N. State Street between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 1 a.m. today.

Wild Market Wave Passes

Gains, Losses About Even Before Start Of Long Weekend

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market simmered down considerably today. Blue chips made selective gains.

Gains and losses for the entire list were about even.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.71 at 895.34.

Trading proceeded at roughly half the turbulent pace of Wednesday when a new record of 20.41 million shares was posted. The approach of the three-day Easter weekend caused normal caution and evening-up of positions. The exchanges will close Good Friday.

Brokers expressed themselves as satisfied with the firm way in which the market was performing, despite the potentially depressing news that the secretary of defense is calling to active duty about 24,500 reservists about 10,000 of whom will go to Vietnam.

This was interpreted more as an attempt to strengthen the hand of the United States in peace negotiations than as another escalation of the conflict.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 319.1 with industrials up 1.1, rails off .8 and utilities up .4.

Gains of a point or so were scored by such key stocks as United Aircraft, Alcoa, Lorillard and Johns-Manville.

Du Pont, whose climb of 7 1/2 Wednesday helped boost the averages, weathered an early loss of 1 1/2 and cut it to a small fraction.

IBM, which dropped a point in Wednesday's late selling, snapped back 4 points.

AVCO spurted 3 points amid a published report that its president believes some of AVCO's defense-oriented business may become more profitable if peace is established.

Some of the insurance companies weakened as investors took another look at the prospect of big damage claims resulting from the racial riots. Transamerica dropped more than a point. Continental Insurance came nearly a point and Insurance Co. of North America a fraction.

Ford, Sears Roebuck and U.S. Gypsum were off about a point.

Teamsters to Close Office on Good Friday

The offices of Teamsters Local 563, 527 N. Appleton St., will be closed from noon to 3 p.m.

School Children Will Plant Trees Along Ballard Road

A tree-planting project for Huntley Elementary School pupils will be directed by an Appleton citizens group subcommittee.

The park and recreation subcommittee of the Appleton Citizens Advisory Committee, agreed Wednesday night to take on the project after its plans to beautify the city's approaches could not be undertaken.

Erik Madisen, chairman, said that five or six grades would be used to plant 50 to 100 trees on the Ballard Road buffer strip between Outagamie County Trunk OO and Glendale Avenue. The trees will be supplied by the park department which also has several other planting sites selected.

Madisen indicated the plan may not work if the trees arrive during the school's Easter vacation.

Hearing Next Week On Manawa Shooting

Judge Gives Attorney for Youth Held in Death Time to Complete Investigation

WAUPACA — Waupaca County Juvenile Judge Wendell McHenry will set a hearing sometime next week to determine whether a 16-year-old Manawa youth, who allegedly fatally wounded a Manawa man, should be declared a delinquent.

Judge McHenry said Wednesday that he will not set a hearing date until Hart has completed his investigation.

Norman Winters, 29, 116 High St., Manawa, was killed by a blast in the head from a .20 gauge shotgun on April 5 in the living room of his home.

Since the shooting, the youth has been held in juvenile detention quarters at the Waupaca County jail.

The youth surrendered to Manawa police shortly after the shooting. Because he is a juvenile no formal charges have been brought against him.

On Monday afternoon Judge

Girl, 17, Says She Was Raped

Six Youths Sought For Assault of Clintonville Girl

SHIOCTON — A 17-year-old Clintonville girl was taken to New London Community Hospital early today after she was allegedly raped by one of six young men who forced her into a car near here.

Outagamie County sheriff's investigators said they are looking for six men in their late teens and early 20s and for a car about five or six years old. They said the girl could identify some of her assailants.

Investigators, who questioned the girl in the hospital this morning, said she was forced into a car at a parking lot east of here about 11 p.m. She said one of the men gagged her with a cloth.

One of her assailants held her down in the rear seat while a second one assaulted her. The other four were apparently not directly involved in the actual assault.

The girl said she was pushed from the car on Cherry Road near a dump north of Bear Creek. She walked to a nearby farm house and county police were summoned shortly after midnight.

The girl was taken to the hospital about 4:20 a.m. Investigators said she apparently was not beaten. She was to be examined by a doctor today.

Good Friday, Robert Schlieve, business agent, said.

Little Chute Legion May Start Fund

Scholarship Project Will be Studied by Special Committee

LITTLE CHUTE — Members of the American Legion voted Monday night to form a committee to study the establishment of a scholarship program for village schools.

A donation of $112 toward such a fund was made by Martin Jansen, state commander, which represents money left from his campaign fund when running for the state office.

Approval was given to a Legion baseball team to compete this season after a year's absence from the League. William Winius was named to head the team and to secure necessary equipment and insurance.

Donation Approved

Legionnaires approved a donation of $85 to the U.S.O., from money raised in a special campaign, and $150 to the auxiliary managed child welfare program in the community. The post agreed to purchase two grave markers for Vietnam veterans buried in the local cemetery and a 4 by 8 foot picture of the "U.S.S. American Legion" for display above the trophy case.

Approval was given to mailing the monthly newsletter to all servicemen from the community. Members also voted to have the Legion flag flown at half-staff for all future Legionnaire and veterans' funerals.

Roger Koehn was named to head committees preparing for the State Legion golf tournament to be held at Fox Valley Golf Club in September.

Officers Slate

Leon Toonen, nominating committee chairman, presented a slate of officers to be considered for election at the May meeting. These include Harry Samuels, Norbert Demerath and Lambert Coenen, commander; Ray Winius and Donald Dietzler, vice commander; Clyde Jenkins, adjutant, and John Demerath and Paul Casey, finance officer.

Named delegates to an Appleton County Council dinner were Leo Hendricks, Norbert Demerath, Don Van Handel, Coenen, Earl DeBruin and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Samuels.

The post presented a citation to Harold Henry, administrator of Wood Veterans' Hospital.

COG Endorses Proposal for Regional Fire, Rescue Unit

Combined Service Should Lower Insurance Cost in Fox Cities

KAUKAUNA — Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) officials endorsed a proposal Wednesday for regional fire and rescue facilities and services.

The proposal to combine Fox Cities area firefighting efforts into a centrally-operated unit came in a letter from Roland Kuehn, Appleton fire chief. A COG study of the possibilities was favored by the policy committee last week.

Kuehn suggested the plan to improve firefighting efficiency and reduce insurance costs for many Fox Cities property owners.

Special committee

COG officials agreed that Laure H e a n e y, chairman, should appoint a special committee to investigate the idea. Kuehn, Thomas Lamers, Little Chute fireman and state-qualified instructor, and Vincent Baum, Grand Chute fireman, were suggested for the committee.

"I think Chief Kuehn's idea is pointing to what everybody realizes but nobody has figured out the path to follow," said Walter Rasmussen, Appleton's director of planning.

The group considered including joint police efforts for the study, but felt it should take that up if a request is made.

Police School

Dominic Bordini, Vocational Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) assistant director of research and development, told the group that VTE-12 has taken steps in that direction.

"We have asked our state vocational board for permission to establish a one-year course for police in our area," he said. The officers would be trained in a central facility and receive an associate degree, he said.

At his request, COG agreed to endorse a police school for the Fox Valley and will send a letter to the VTE-12 director to be passed on to the state board.

New Hearing On Pipeline Requested

Holmer added, "It is essential that this meeting be open to the public." However, he said it would be conducted informally since it would be informational.

Appleton officials had been making preparations which will hopefully lead to advertising for bids in the near future. Plans for constructing the pipeline and plant addition have been filed with the state, and the Public Service Commission (PSC) previously issued the city a project report.

The $4.25 million project will be aided by $1.5 million federal grant making the city's net share of the cost $2,750,000. The city council and Appleton water commission are expected to float a bond issue.

Recently, Senator Mike Mansfield was quoted as saying that he was satisfied that we were making progress with the war in Vietnam, but he doubted that we were making much headway in establishing a democratic government which is responsive to the will of the Vietnamese people.

We don't seem to be making much headway in that direction right here in the United States.

A government that permits lawlessness and riots in our streets does not reflect the will of the people.

A bureaucratic government bent on usurping the power of the states and centralizing them in Washington isn't listening to the voice of the people.

A Supreme Court that interprets laws to protect criminals and thereby encourage more crime in our streets is not responsive to the people's will.

A government that keeps increasing taxes and then spends recklessly, delving this nation ever deeper in debt, isn't attuned to the will of the people.

A government which is apparently obsessed with giveaway programs that could eventually make our country a welfare state is certainly not listening to the people.

Maybe we should mend our own fences, Senator Mansfield, before we start throwing our weight around in someone else's backyard.

Language Course in English to be Aired

KAUKAUNA — The trans-formational English program being tried for the first time this year as part of a three-year study will be featured on WLUX-TV at 9:30 a.m. next Tuesday the board of education has learned.

Bernard Hupperts, coordinator for the program under a Title III federal grant, outlined the course and its objectives for both public and parochial schools. Purpose of the program, according to Hupperts, is to keep language arts from becoming a ritual and to make more effective use of the language.

Kindergarten through third grade pupils explore the language, pupils from fourth through sixth grade study the kinds of sentences, learn the history and semantics of the language, basic roots of words

Woman Fails to Serve Jail Term

SHELLEY, Idaho (AP) — There was a brief impasse when Mrs. Dee Mansfield was sentenced by police Judge Carl Hall to pay a $5 fine or spend 24 hours in jail for keeping a dog in the city limits without a leash.

Mrs. Mansfield appeared at jail, demanding to serve her sentence. Judge Hall and Police Chief Ed Beck refused to jail her because, they said, she had pre-school children.

Mrs. Mansfield said she had arranged for a baby sitter and still wanted to go to jail.

and what happens to words by adding a prefix or suffix.

Learning in these grades becomes a living experience for students rather than merely learning by texts or words of the teacher, said Hupperts. Junior high students correlate all things learned with reading and social studies. They study dialects and use knowledge gained in writing and creative work, he added.

Variety of Electives The program coordinator said that senior high school students are given a variety of electives in English in conjunction with the required work. The electives are based on interest and teachers help guide students into the proper area.

Spelling and normal language textbooks have been eliminated. Students keep their own spelling lists which are supplemented by lists furnished by the teachers.

Dr. Raymond Pooley, University of Wisconsin, developed the program and will work with teachers from Kaukauna during the next two years in setting up tests and evaluating the program.

Educators from throughout the state and nation have visited the school to sit in on some of the program and interest runs high, said Hupperts. Parental acceptance of the change has also been favorable, noted the coordinator.

In other board action, a low bid of $450 for five additional machines was accepted from Valley Business Equipment, Appleton. WIAA insurance was renewed for the 1968-69 school year and the firm of Richard Landreman was named to audit school books.

Tipsy Driver Fined $100

Appleton Man Is Allowed to Return to Winnebago Hospital

OSHKOSH — Gerald G. Van Gompel, 43, route 4, Appleton, Tuesday afternoon was found guilty of drunken driving and fined $100.

Winnebago County Judge James V. Sitter ruled that Van Gompel would be allowed to return to Winnebago State Hospital, where he is a patient. If the fine is not paid by the time he is released, he will be jailed for 30 days.

Winnebago County sheriff's officers arrested Van Gompel Feb. 2 while he was driving near the intersection of County Trunk P and State 47 in the Town of Menasha.

Van Gompel pleaded innocent to the charge Feb. 13, but

Negroes Don't Lower Values, Researcher Says

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A population researcher says increased Negro population of a neighborhood doesn't decrease property values.

The Negro does not "invade" a neighborhood, says John M. McQuiston of University of Southern California's population research laboratory. The neighborhood "is bequeathed to him by the Caucasian who has moved on to newer and more desirable housing."

Property values don't begin their decline when Negroes arrive, McQuiston said Wednesday following a survey. "By then, that trend has already been long established."

Initial U. S. Reaction Favorable

Warsaw Suggested as Talks Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials began immediate study today of a reported North Vietnamese proposal that preliminary U.S.-North Vietnamese peace discussions be held in Warsaw, Poland.

The Warsaw report came in a Moscow dispatch by Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

The initial reaction among President Johnson's advisers was reported to be that the proposition seemed reasonable and probably would be acceptable.

However, officials declined to discuss the report of Hanoi's proposal of Warsaw as the site and would not confirm in any formal way that it had been received here.

Nevertheless there appeared to be no doubt that the proposition had reached the State Department and White House through diplomatic channels.

The most serious objection seen by some diplomats was that Warsaw, being the capital of an Eastern European Communist country, might present some difficulties for the South Vietnamese government which presumably would have observers or advisers with the delegation of U.S. officials to be headed by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

Periodic Talks
Warsaw for several years has been the site of periodic talks between ambassadors of the United States and Communist China. The United States thus has there an embassy with unusual background in handling Far Eastern issues.

Furthermore in late 1966, when major peace efforts were under way, Warsaw was the site proposed for secret contacts between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives—contacts which never came off.

At that time Polish diplomats were playing an active intermediary role.

Officials would not be surprised, it was said here, if the arrangements for the talks were now to be made so quickly that they could be opened some time next week.

The United States had originally suggested Geneva, a site of which North Vietnam did not approve.

A North Vietnam proposal of Phnom Penh, Cambodia, U.S. officials said, was difficult for the United States because this country has no embassy there and because communication facilities are extremely limited.

Tass said: "It is believed in Hanoi's authoritative circles that the U.S. refusal to accept Phnom Penh as the meeting place may be taken to indicate that the United States delays solution of this question."

The Soviet news agency said North Vietnam had received a reply from the United States to its suggestion of Phnom Penh and this had "voiced disagreement."

"This decision by the United States cannot but cause wonder," Tass continued "because the United States has repeatedly expressed willingness to send its representative to any point on the globe to establish contacts with a representative of the DRV," Democratic Republic of Vietnam.

The report said North Vietnam, "displaying good will," is ready to start contacts with the American side in any other mutually convenient place and suggested Warsaw.

"It was also learned from reliable sources today that the Democratic Republic of Vietnam has now suggested Warsaw as the venue of a preliminary meeting with a U.S. representative," Tass went on.

No other details on the proposition were given.

10,000 Will Be Sent to S. Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford today announced he is calling to active duty about 24,500 Army, Navy and Air Force reservists. About 10,000 will go to South Vietnam.

In his first full-dress news conference, the new defense secretary said that no decision has been made at this time whether to call any additional reservists.

He also said that President Johnson intends at this time to limit U.S. forces in Vietnam to 549,500—representing an increase of 24,500 over the present ceiling.

Presidential Decision

Clifford linked this presidential decision to limit further U.S. deployment to another major decision "to turn over the major effort gradually to the South Vietnamese."

The new secretary, in office only six weeks, said the decision to move toward turning over the biggest part of the war effort to Vietnam has been made after months of consultations with the Vietnamese and took into account the Saigon government's decision to boost its forces by 135,000 men.

The reserve call up was foreshadowed by Johnson's speech March 31 in which he also announced a partial halt in the

O'Brien Resigns From Cabinet, LBJ Replaces Him With Texan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson moved quickly to replace Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, first Cabinet casualty of his "lame duck" administration, while making official the expected

He said that when the postmaster general spoke to him earlier in the day about resigning, he told O'Brien "that since I was not going to be a candidate for re-election, I realize the Cabinet had made many sacrifices... and that now was the time for any of them to make decisions concerning their families and their future."

Johnson praised O'Brien, who served as his liaison with Capitol Hill and as a key political strategist, saying he was highly competent, efficient and effective. "We shall miss him, but are happy to cooperate with him in his desire to enter private life," Johnson said.

The President wouldn't discuss O'Brien's future plans but aides of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said the postmaster general would soon join the New York campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In a statement today, O'Brien endorsed Kennedy but did not say whether he would take an active part in his campaign. An aide said this would depend on how much time O'Brien has in his new job.

O'Brien issued a statement saying he was pleased with the choice of Watson, a native of Oakhurst, Tex.

Watson O'Brien appointment of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams as U.S. commander in Vietnam.

The President told White House newsmen Wednesday he had accepted O'Brien's resignation and had nominated W. Marvin Watson, now presidential appointments secretary, to fill the Cabinet post.

In addition to naming Abrams, 53 to take over for Gen. William C. Westmoreland when he becomes Army chief of staff in July, Johnson picked Adm. John S. McCain, 57, now commander of U.S. naval forces in Europe, to succeed retiring Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp as commander in chief, Pacific.

The military reshuffle also involved Johnson's naming of Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, now commandant of the National War College in Washington and staff secretary to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, to succeed Abrams as deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam.

'Many Sacrifices'

Johnson, who has said he won't seek or accept nomination for another term, took note of his "lame duck" status in announcing O'Brien's resignation.

He succeeds John R. Kimberly, 65, who retires as chief executive in accordance with corporate policy. Kimberly will continue as chairman of the board and consultant.

Minard, 61, has been president of the manufacturer of paper and cellulose products since August, 1967. He was executive vice president for operations prior to his selection for the presidency. He will retain his post as president.

Kimberly-Clark's new chief executive joined the company in 1928 through its Canadian affiliate, The Spruce Falls Power and Paper Co., and was named a vice president of that firm in 1951. He was elected senior vice president for Canadian Kimberly-Clark operations in 1961 and president of Canadian Kimberly-Clark and of the Spruce Falls company a year later.

In 1964, Minard was elected vice president of the parent U.S. firm and named to its board of directors.

Minard begins his chief executive role at a time of major expansion for Kimberly-Clark operations in disposable household products, newsprint, business papers and cigarette paper manufacturing in Alabama, Ohio, South Carolina and Latin America.

Grandson of Founder

Kimberly, a grandson of one of the founders of Kimberly-Clark, has been active in the company for 44 years. His career spans the years of company growth from a seven-

Kansas City Rioting Kills 5

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A day of rioting in Kansas City ended today after a second straight night of racial violence in the Negro East side that left five dead, at least 20 wounded and rubble from more than 75 incendiary fires.

A curfew hastily proclaimed at 9 p.m. Wednesday was lifted at 6 a.m., and most people appeared to be reporting for work as usual. Business places reopened, and buses carrying armed National Guard troops resumed running.

Police, meanwhile, found themselves under a different sort of fire—demands by some Negro leaders that Chief Clarence M. Kelley resign for authorizing what Negroes termed excessive use of tear gas and police brutality.

James A. Hazlett, school superintendent, also was urged to step down for not taking an active enough role in quieting school disturbances.

'Keep the Peace'

"The function of the police department is to keep the peace," replied Chief Kelley. "When we have lawlessness, we must use force to control it, and tear gas is a humane method."

All of the dead were Negroes. They were shot to death, some victims of the intense crossfire that flared at times between Negro snipers and police supported by National Guardsmen.

Two guardsmen suffered gunshot wounds, neither serious. A fireman was wounded in the abdomen and underwent surgery. There were more than 60 arrests.

Most of the fires were out by dawn. Some were allowed to burn because of sniper fire. Firemen were pinned down at three locations during the night. Two of the fires raged out of control and burned themselves out. Police and guardsmen were ordered to shoot fire bombers dead.

Violence Resumes

off an area from 27th to 34th streets between Prospect and Benton, about 24 square blocks.

Snipers challenged police and guardsmen from rooftops and cars, shooting and running or driving from vantage point to vantage point. The snipers were countered with tear gas and by strike forces of police rifle squads and supporting guardsmen. Other police officers served as rooftop spotters for their riflemen below.

At one point in the heat of the battle National Guardsmen requested and received more ammunition. An additional guard force patrolled a perimeter of 24 blocks by 16 blocks around the devastated section. State highway patrolmen supplemented

Civil Rights Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional passage of landmark open-housing legislation has won applause from civil rights leaders along with renewed demands for massive federal attacks on shabby housing and unemployment in riot-prone slums.

A 250-171 House vote Wednesday sent to the White House a civil rights bill to outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of 80 per cent of the nation's housing by 1970.

President Johnson said he would sign it into law as soon as possible.

Funeral Violence

The House action followed by a day the funeral of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, whose numerous campaigns often focused on open housing.

It also came after a week of widespread racial violence following King's assassination—nightfall Wednesday after a day of uneasy calm. During the peak of violence police sealed

"I think this bill is symbolic," explained Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La. "Either we move ahead as one people or we move toward a police state."

Johnson hailed passage of the bill but also urged Congress to enact the rest of his program, including housing and job programs.

Joining in praise for the open-housing measure and in the call for more congressional action on job and housing programs were George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, Dore Schary, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development and a Negro, said Johnson's pending housing bill provides the way to build six million low and moderate-income homes in 10 years. The riot commission wants this accomplished in five years.

Called a 'Hoax'

But Roy Innis, associate national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, called the open-housing bill a "hoax against black people." What is needed more for the Negro community is a program for building and ownership of good housing in slum areas, he said.

He said the bill contains no enforcement procedure except conciliation while forbidding

Rockefeller Backers Put New Effort Into Nomination Drive

GOP Business, Party Leaders Unite in Campaign Committee

BY WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Encouraged by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's latest pronouncements of presidential availability, Republicans who want the New Yorker nominated for the White House have unleashed a new promotional effort.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky announced formation of a Rockefeller-for-President Committee and said it would include a group of political and business leaders prominent in the GOP.

He scheduled a news conference for today to announce the committee's makeup.

Even as that announcement was being drafted, a source close to Rockefeller said it's probably too late to stop the march of Richard M. Nixon toward the Republican nomination.

Spontaneous Draft

Morton said the movement he announced was a spontaneous draft, an effort of which Rockefeller has been advised in advance.

"He understands that it has been undertaken to persuade him to become a candidate and to persuade the Republican party, through our delegates to the national convention, to nominate him," Morton said.

J. Irwin Miller, a Columbus, Ind., businessman, is expected to be named today to head the new Rockefeller committee.

Senate Republican sources said the lineup of leaders also would include GOP Sens. James B. Pearson of Kansas and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, along with former party chairman William E. Miller, Leonard W. Hall and Meade Alcorn and businessman Walter Thayer of New York.

"I have said that I was available if the party wanted me," Rockefeller told a Wednesday news conference in a Senate hallway.

'Available Emphasized'

The New York governor used that word — available — five times in that encounter.

"Availability is the way I put it," he said. "I have not pulled out. I just never got into active candidacy."

The governor said he will speak on national issues in speeches across the country in the weeks ahead. The first will be April 19 in Washington, he said.

Morton said he was encouraged by the stress Rockefeller placed on his availability.

Rockefeller said on March 21, in announcing he would not be a campaigning candidate, that "a considerable majority of the party's leaders" wanted Nixon nominated.

He said Wednesday he does not know whether that is still the case now that President Johnson has announced he will neither seek nor accept the Democratic nomination.

Fluid Situation

"I will say that I think the whole situation is fluid," Rockefeller said.

But the business of reading Rockefeller's nuances is a tricky one. Rockefeller went to the verge of active candidacy after Michigan Gov. George Romney withdrew as a presidential contender. Then, on March 21, he ruled out an active campaign for the nomination.

And April's Rockefeller effort so far is not unlike one staged in March, when Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew announced formation of a draft-Rockefeller group. That group lost its impetus when Rockefeller shunned active contention.

Rusk Undergoing Physical Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of state Dean Rusk, who has filled one of the government's most demanding jobs for more than seven years, is undergoing a physical examination at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Rusk, 59, entered the hospital Wednesday and the State Department said he may be there for two or three days.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey reported that papers requiring Rusk's attention will be delivered to him at the hospital. The detailed management of foreign policy, meanwhile, is in the hands of Undersecretary Nicholas Katzenbach.

Rusk has maintained a seven-day-a-week schedule, with very little time off, since he became secretary on Jan. 21, 1961. His last complete checkup was in 1966.

Bodies of 46 Found After Ferry Sinks

Estimates of Deaths In Wellington Storm Had Exceeded 100

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Searchers in patrol boats and mountaineers scouring Wellington harbor's rocky shoreline have found 46 bodies from the ferry Wahine which sank Wednesday in a wild storm, officials reported. Thirteen persons were listed as missing.

This sharply reduced earlier police estimates that the dead might reach 100 or more, but officials indicated there was the possibility of records being duplicated.

The 8,944-ton oceangoing ferry hit a shoal just inside Wellington harbor during storms from the Pacific and Antarctic, and capsized a mile off shore six hours later. A total of 735 persons were aboard, 605 passengers and 130 crew, officials said.

Of 106 persons admitted to local hospitals, 31 have been discharged. Only one hospital case, a year-old boy, was reported in serious condition. The others were suffering from shock, exposure or fractures.

Boats Wrecked

The wreckage of a dozen or more lifeboats and life rafts was found strewn from Muritai Bay to Pencarrow Head near the entrance to Wellington Harbor. Fifty skilled mountaineers spent a cold night in the foothills at the harbor entrance searching for survivors. They thought that stunned passengers coming ashore by raft might have wandered off into the hills.

Other searchers concentrated on the shoreline, and boats equipped with spotlights scoured the waters.

Police discounted a report from a launch owner that he heard a tapping noise from inside the hull of the big ship. They said divers made a thorough inspection of the hull and were satisfied that no one remained inside.

The Wahine lay nearly submerged near the harbor mouth where it hit a reef and six hours later heeled over into the stormy sea.

Wake of Violence

Riot Commission Recalled

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner is reconvening the President's Commission on Civil Disorders to study the outbreak of violence that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Chicago Tribune said today.

The story quoted Kerner, commission chairman, as saying he had sent telegrams to all commission members notifying them that the commission will be reconvened.

"I set no date for the commission to meet," Kerner was quoted as saying. "I thought it best to wait until after President Johnson makes an address before a joint session of Congress on civil rights."

Johnson had scheduled such an address for Monday night, but this was postponed and no new date for the speech has been announced.

Meeting Soon

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, commission vice chairman, had said Wednesday in New York that he and Kerner had agreed that an emergency session be held in Washington in the next few days.

Lindsay said it was already too late for people killed and wounded in the wave of urban violence which followed King's assassination. But he added, "It is not too late, however, for the nation to move against this crisis with the urgency and enter-

Cleveland Keeps Cool

Mayor Stokes Walks the Streets

CLEVELAND (AP) — Since the night Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated, Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes has gone into the city's Negro areas with one message: Cool it!

Stokes' message has paid off. There have been no racial disturbances in this city, which has about 280,000 Negroes.

As he walked through Negro areas, Stokes and everyone else were conscious of racial disturbances in some of the nation's major cities, where National Guardsmen were sent in to quell the rioting.

A Negro, Stokes went into the heart of the Hough area where five nights of rioting and fire bombing hit Cleveland in 1966. Four Negroes were killed from gunfire then and National Guardsmen patrolled the streets.

The mayor attended Dr. King's funeral in Atlanta Tuesday and said the first thing Vice President Hubert A. Humphrey told him was, "We are all so proud of your city."

When he returned, Stokes said "I had mayors, congressmen and senators all commenting on how wonderfully Clevelanders responded during these days of tension."

Stokes sometimes walked into the slum areas, stopping to talk to youths on the streets or in pool rooms. Other times he rode with a detective. He was out and around into the early morning hours.

Stokes, elected last November, said he was proud of the city, and especially the youths, for having avoided disorder.

King's Admonition

"The young people apparently really remembered and followed Dr. King's admonition: 'The thing is not to burn, baby, burn, but learn, baby, learn,'" Stokes said.

"Even though I'm grateful for having come through this crisis without trouble, the emphasis must not be placed on having kept peace," the mayor continued.

"The emphasis must be placed on using this cooperative concern to proceed forthrightly in attacking the tremendous problems that are the root cause of these crises."

Busload of Pupils

'Detained' for Funeral

FRANKLINTON, N.C. (AP) — Two Negroes were held on charges of kidnapping by detaining and seizure in the detention of a Franklin County school bus with 31 students aboard.

Police said Mrs. Ester Perry, 35, and Eddie Iunius Parker, 19, both of Franklinton, boarded the bus Tuesday morning and told the nine Negro pupils on board to get out because the pupils were not showing the proper respect for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. by going to school.

Mustang Vanished Minutes After King Was Fatally Shot

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The presence of a second white Mustang near the doorway which police say the slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. used to escape gave rise today to published reports that it may have been the getaway car.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal said the car with Arkansas tags and a similar vehicle, parked a short distance north, both left the scene within 15 minutes after King was fatally shot a week ago today.

Both vehicles were within 100 feet of the doorway to the second-floor rooming house where police said the assassin waited and shot King as he stood on the balcony of a motel across a rear street.

The killer was believed to have walked out of the Main Street entrance to the rooming house, turned south and dropped the murder weapon in front of a business firm next door.

Guy Canipe, owner of the firm, said he saw the young white man drop the package which contained the gun, but did not see his face.

The Commercial Appeal speculated that the man then walked a few steps farther along, got into the dirty white Mustang with Arkansas tags and sped away.

The second Mustang, parked north of the rooming house also left the scene near the time of the shooting.

Police said they would investigate reports that a supposed police chase in northeast Memphis — eight miles from the scene — 30 minutes after the shooting may have been a decoy to allow the killer to escape.

A recording of the police radio dispatcher's transmissions showed seven calls in 12 minutes from a lieutenant's car in the northeast section of the city detailing the chase.

The lieutenant said Tuesday he did not make the calls.

Waupaca Board to Organize for Term

Five Supervisors to Take Oath Tuesday; Name Committeemen

WAUPACA — Five new county board members will receive their oath of office and new committees for a two-year period will be named during Tuesday's organizational session. The April session will include meetings Tuesday and Wednesday.

The board also will vote for a chairman and vice-chairman, elect a welfare board, name a highway committee and a committee on committees. The committee on committees will name the various committees and the chairman of each Tuesday afternoon.

Carl E. Sturm, Manawa, is the present board chairman and is expected to be named to his fourth two-year term. Harold Clark, Weyauwega, is the present vice-chairman.

New supervisors will be seated Tuesday. They are W. Fred Jensen, Dist. 4; William J. Kramer Jr., Dist. 6; Geary Wilson, Dist. 11; John H. Schroeder, Dist. 16; and Elmer H. Paul, Dist. 20.

New quarters must be found for the Health and Social Services Department, formerly known as the welfare department. The department, now housed in the courthouse, is running short of office space, as department director Robert Payette explained at the November session. The public property committee has studied the situation and will report its findings next week.

At the November session supervisors discussed two possibilities — moving the department to new quarters in the basement of the jail and the construction of a new building specifically for the department.

Members will also discuss joining Shawano County in providing diagnostic center services for both counties at a center now located and operated by Shawano County.

Nun Addresses Association Says Retarded Children Face Life-Long Problem

CHILTON — Mentally retarded children face a life-long problem, Sister Mary George of St. Collette residential school for retarded children, told members of the Calumet County Association for Retarded Children at their Monday night meeting in the high school cafeteria.

At grade school age such a child encounters learning difficulties unrealized by other students, she said. By adolescence, he becomes fully aware of his basic difference from those around him and is confronted with more adjustment problems.

Finally, he must find some means of support through his adult life and retirement, Sister M. George said.

Poor Surroundings

Society must recognize environmentally deprived children as well as those suffering congenital mental retardation, the nun said. The learning difficulties of the environmentally deprived child stem from surroundings which provide little or no mental stimulation, she asserted.

Retarded children should not be placed in an institution before the age of six, she said, although after that age professionally trained people become of increasing importance in helping the child.

She emphasized that it is extremely important, that all accomplishments of the retarded child be recognized and praised.

Deep Faith Needed

She urged the parents of the retarded to have "a deep enough faith to be able to see the hand of God in this child."

Charles Nikolai, county 4-H agent, outlined a program in which high school students will be counselors at the day care center summer camp. Students interested in this work were urged to contact Nikolai.

The association received donations from recent fund raising projects of the Stockbridge High School senior class, the Calumet County chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs and the Chilton High School Future Homemakers Club.

Mrs. Theodore Jordon of Forest Junction was chairman of the program.

about fashion...

Fashion is mainly a feeling for looking your best at all times. It's a talent some men have in larger measure than others, but all can cultivate it.

It requires some knowledge, some care, some pride, some intuition, some horse sense, some concern about how one should look to others.

It can be developed by talking to salespeople, by visiting stores, by looking into showrooms, by questioning tailors, by experimenting with your wardrobe, by shopping, buying and discarding. By trial and error.

But there's an easier way. Expose yourself to a full-length mirror and a visit to W. A. Close, the fashion shop for Men, Young Men and Younger Men.

Our clothing counselors are well-trained, experienced and anxious to serve you. Stop in anytime for a casual, friendly visit.

Girl, 17, Says She Was Raped

Six Youths Sought For Assault of Clintonville Girl

SHIOCTON — A 17-year-old Clintonville girl was taken to New London Community Hospital early today after she was allegedly raped by one of six young men who forced her into a car near here.

Outagamie County sheriff's investigators said they are looking for six men in their late teens and early 20s and for a car about five or six years old. They said the girl could identify some of her assailants.

Investigators, who questioned the girl in the hospital this morning, said she was forced into a car at a parking lot east of here about 11 p.m. She said one of the men gagged her with a cloth.

One of her assailants held her down in the rear seat while a second one assaulted her. The other four were apparently not directly involved in the actual assault.

The girl said she was pushed from the car on Cherry Road near a dump north of Bear Creek. She walked to a nearby farm house and county police were summoned shortly after midnight.

The girl was taken to the hospital about 4:20 a.m. Investigators said she apparently was not beaten. She was to be examined by a doctor today.

Heffernan Lauds Keller

'...!Administered Justice Firmly'

Retired Judge Gustave J. Keller "has been where the action is."

So have other criminal and traffic court judges who served and are serving during the "revolution in the field of criminal law," State Supreme Court Justice Nathan Heffernan said at a testimonial dinner for Keller Wednesday night.

Some 120 attorneys, judges, clergymen, Kiwanians, and their wives were at the dinner, sponsored by the Outagamie County Bar Association, at the Conway Motor Inn. In talking of the revolution in the field of criminal law, Heffernan pointed to the controversial Escobedo and Miranda cases, both of which had major effects on the concept of law and justice in the United States.

Heffernan was one of several men who paid tribute to the former magistrate of Outagamie County Court Branch 2. Keller retired March 31 when he reached the mandatory retirement age of 70. He was succeeded by former Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

"...he administered justice firmly, but fairly and impartially," Heffernan said of Keller. Noting that there had been few appeals from his court, Heffernan explained "this is a tribute to the fine work he has done."

Heffernan was introduced by Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell, who was master of ceremonies, and who remarked of Keller, "his retirement evokes sentiments of joy and sadness from all of us."

Five Guideposts Parnell cited five "guideposts" of character which he said Keller has met. They are, Parnell said, his relation to his God, country, family, community, and the effective handling of his office.

Others who cited Keller for his achievements were William Solberg of Appleton, governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District of Kiwanis International; Appleton attorney Al Bradford, who said he "grew up" with Keller; and the Rev. Patrick McMahon, pastor at St. Thomas More Catholic Church.

Solberg cited Keller for his history of community service, much of which was in the capacity of a Kiwanis officer. Keller was district Kiwanis governor in 1956. Solberg alluded to Keller as "Mr. Kiwanis."

Recognition Plaque Stanley Chmiel, president of the county bar association, presented Keller with a plaque in recognition for his service to the community "as a judge, a christian, and a man."

Keller, in closing remarks, said that court branches 2 and 3 (Juvenile Court, presided over by Judge Raymond Dohr) were vitally important because "they deal with human beings, many of them young people on the wrong path."

"The judges of these courts have the opportunity to get the kids back on the right path," Keller said.

Chief Justice Harold Hallows of the State Supreme Court will be the featured speaker at another testimonial dinner for Keller April 18 at Romy's New Nitingale. The dinner is sponsored by law enforcement agencies throughout the county, and is open to the public. Ticket sales end Friday.
